Out of the Blue!

"True Blue" - Bedford pep and spirit has reached its peak. On September 5th, the doors opened once again and in came the BHS students out of the blue skies of their summers, but into the blue spirit that BHS has built and has come to treasure over its many years!

Christine Hamel leisurely strolls to her Field Hockey practice.

Stephanie Kyvelos, Theresa Concannon, Karen Clancy, and Jennifer Peterson stand proud thinking about their newfound Junior status.

Rachel Meyers, Amy Andrade, Brian Kern, Kerry Pignatiello, Liz Welch, and Jen Callahan enjoy a warm day outside on the bleachers.

Stephanie Dubitzky and Kristen Colli-ton hang out in the parking lot trying to look cool.

Katie Holden and Beth Mofield take a break to cool off from practice.

"Take that", cries Lisa Cadotte as she and Jodi Cohen attack our photogra-pher with their Ninja Turtle juice.

On Their Way Out

It's sometime after Labor Day, 1987. The day is clear and warm. The time is approximately 7:30. You are about to enter BEDFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

You struggle to open the enormous portals. Finally you are surrounded by the walls of the monstrous hallway. Your new carebears trapper keeper falls to the floor as millions of upper classmen trample and crush you beneath their huge converse hightops...

That is all behind you now. You have grown up and matured to the level of saying the word "freshman" and laughing hysterically. You will never admit that you were ever one of those tiny little creatures. Well, you have survived Bedford High and ya know what? It wasn't so bad.

It doesn't matter if you won't admit it. We all know how much you love this school. A major portion of your life was spent here.

One thing which I'm sure we'll all agree on is the number of amazing students we grew up with. These students became our friends quite easily.

It's almost time to say goodbye to our friends for a while and to start another part of our lives. It's almost time to be freshman all over again.

For now, just enjoy your remaining days here. Relax, and take a deep breath and look back on some of the best times of your lives. These memories will be with us forever.

"I want YOU", screams Kevin Geary, as the rest of the Senior Class cheers at the 1990 Spirit Games.

Out of Their Minds

Every spring, the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes gather together to strut their stuff at the annual Bedford High School Spirit Games. In the past few years, under the direction of Mr. Huff and Mr. Hunt, class spirit has risen to new heights. Each class is assigned a color to wear (red, white, or blue) and the football field transforms into a battleground. The whole place is alive with energy!

The three classes at war in the 1990 Spirit Games were the classes of 1991, 1992, and 1993. The contestants competed in several events including the infamous egg toss, the knowledge game, and the orange-pass.

After heated races, frenzied tosses, and brainstorming, the class of '92 emerged victorious. Unfortunately (or fortunately, depending on who you are) the class of '91 landed in last place; and the class of '93 surprised everyone and snatched second.

You might laugh, you might cry, but you will definitely be glad you came out to support your class!

Jamie Asbedian happily spews cracker crumbs all over everybody.

How is Erin doing that? Wow!

"What a day. It was crazy!"

Roman Nights

Why Did the Night Have to End

What a night! It seemed like it would never ready, but the final result was magical. The new cafe doors opened and - behold - Roman Nights! The warm spring evening became very hot with all of the dancing and excitement of the Junior Prom.

The dancing and mingling continued throughout the Prom Court selection. The 1990 Junior Prom was lead by its King and Queen Steve Mead and Kerry Pignatiello. The rest of the court was made up by Liz Welch, Megan Dworshak, Erin Fehlau, and Susanne Spencer. The men were Mark Gray, Marcus Kennedy, Jamie Asbedian, Ryan Janson.

Dancing around the fountains and columns was magical. The long hours the class of '91 spent decorating very worth the effort. But, of course, the dancing did end and everyone was left wondering "why can't this night go on forever?"

Tom Chester, Lisa Kelleher, Kathy Hurd, and Kevin Duris sit out.

Painting the Town Blue

Saturday, September 22 dawned less than perfect. The sky was cloudy and the occasional rain drop was felt. But that did nothing to dampen the spirits of Bedford Day! It all started with the parade, led by the fire department and their sirens. The marching band showed off their stuff and the cheerleaders waved their pom-poms.

After the parade, everyone congregated at the booths set up by various community organizations. There were also many booths from Bedford High School groups, including the Spanish Club, the Junior Class, and Forum. One of the most popular BHS booths was undoubtedly the yearbook's nail-the-New-

Kids booth. People - young and old alike - stood in line to throw darts at everyone's favorite rock group, New Kids on the Block.

Spirits were high as Bedfordites from all around came to show their pride in the town. Never has so much enthusiasm and togetherness been seen in a place so small (with the possible exception of last year's annual celebration!). Everybody's efforts, time, and donations were appreciated incredibly by the people of this fair town.

As always, the residents came to show their love of the town of Bedford. In the words of Sophomore, Alex Brill, "we all had fun."

The New Kids only got what was coming to them!

Jodi Cohen waves her flag high and proud for the town of Bedford.

Pep Rally

Showing Our Spirit

As always, the Bedford High spirit lives on. Spirit week, always a very exciting time at BHS, was concluded as always with the first Pep Rally. Each of the classes filed in to compete with the other classes for most spirit, and to join in together to produce the most combined spirit this student body has ever seen.

The sport's teams were introduced and they all ran in to get their praises sung. The band played, and played, and played and we were treated to a Flag and Majorette routines. The Cheerleaders, as always, were constantly on deck to keep the spirits of the BHS students alive and kicking, much to the chagrin of the administration.

The Homecoming court was introduced also. It included: Jenn Callahan, Megan Dworshak, Julie Merrill, Sue Spencer, Liz Welch, Paul Doherty, Keith Farmer, Mark Gray, Jon Koop, and Jamie Asbedian. Shortly after, the Cheerleaders called up all of the team captains. Little did they know of what was in store for them. The Cheerleaders proceeded to tie everyone's hands and place pies in front of them on the floor. This "impromptu pie-eating fest" became a battle, with Christine Hamel coming out victorious.

Finally the Seniors were declared Hall decorating champs for a second year, and the rally came to an end. But once again, BHS showed its true color and its true spirit. Yea Bucs!

Michelle Dee, Jen DiNitto, and Stephanie Steiger cheer for their triumphant class, '91.

Jen Cohen looks "tasty" during the pie-eating contest.

Spirit!

Whoo! Whoo! Whoo!

This year Bedford High School Students outdid themselves with spirit, literally! The week got off to a slow start with beach day at below freezing temperatures. Luckily, the pep picked up the following day when everyone came in decked out in their favorite college sweatshirt. Wednesday was "too cute" as the student body came dressed in Disney attire. Thursday, not a soul was recognizable, being it costume day. Friday topped off the whole week as the school became a blue-and-white blur.

The week was filled with preparations: for Hall Decorating, for Homecoming, and for the dance on Saturday. Homecoming ballots were handed out in senior Homerooms and the finalists were announced at the Pep Rally Friday. The winners: Queen Liz Welch and King Paul Doherty were announced Friday at the Homecoming game. Hall decorating was quite an experience. The Freshman showed a good start with their Yellow Brick Road. The Sophomores took second with their Pumpkin Patch. The Juniors were Shipwrecked (no offense). And yet again, the Seniors excelled, and picked up their second consecutive win with their Senior Psyche. Better luck next year, Underclassmen.

The Pep Rally was a great ending to a fun week. The ambiance was of true spirit and excitement, and as usual, the student body could be counted on to make a little noise. Mrs. Gullage: we are all very sorry that we made too much noise, but we did think that it was a "pep" rally. We are truly sorry.

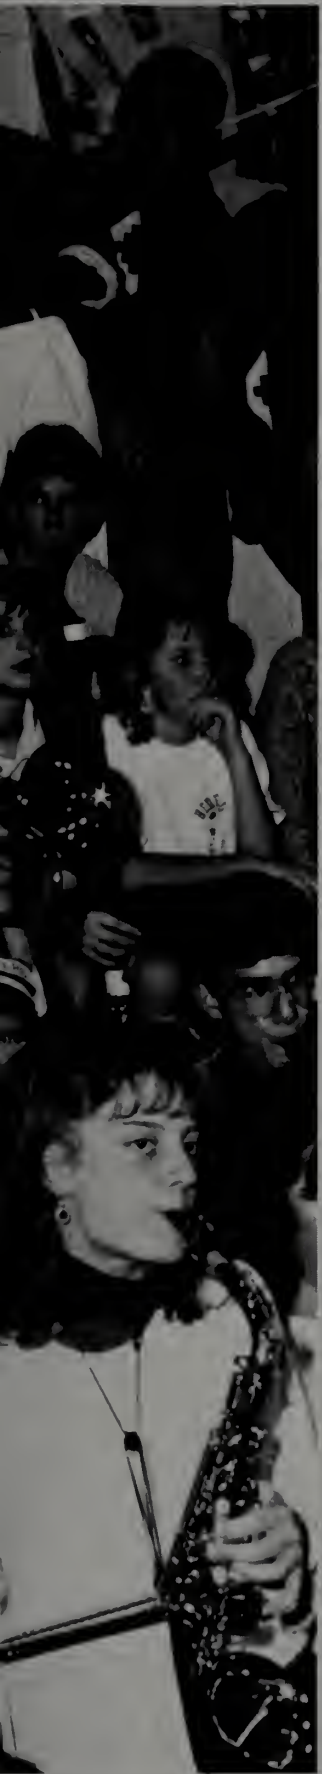

Thanks to everyone who participated!

Let's Party

Out of the Classroom

This year's Halloween-time festivities filled BHS with tons of spirit. Finishing off the usual Spirit Week events was the announcement of the Homecoming Court at Friday night's game and then the dance the following evening in the new cafeteria. This year's court consisted of Jen Callahan, Megan Dworshak, Julie Merrill, Susanne Spencer, and Queen Liz Welch. The boys on the court were: Jamie Asbedian, Keith Farmer, Mark Gray, Jon Koop, and King Paul Doherty. The usual announcement was filled with anticipation as the Court stood anxiously with their parents eagerly awaiting the outcome. The announcement brought humor, as three of the "king" possibilities were in the locker room with their team, including winner Paul Doherty, but his mother filled in nicely. The dance went great, as well, and another homecoming was a smashing success.

The annual language Halloween parties brought a new tradition to BHS this year - the combining of all three language groups. The larger group brought three times the amount of festivities to the joyous occasion and the spirit was unbelievable. Silly games were played, and silly costumes were worn. It was definitely a night to remember! The usual pointless, though amusing games took place and teams were formed, and as usual, it was a crazy night. Perhaps no other school organizations have as much pep as our Language Groups do, and well, I guess we're proud of them.

Bluemin' Spirit

Competition Inside and Out

The Thanksgiving season is always a fine time. The leaves are changing color and falling, the air is colder, the winter jackets are out, and Bedford High School goes crazy with activity. Like every year, the grudge football game with arch-rival Concord-Carlisle on Thanksgiving day brought more excitement than imaginable. We really don't like those guys from C.C.! The entire town gathered the night before for the annual pep rally/bonfire across from the High School. The night was cold, but everyone was kept warm by the high spirits of the football team and the slow burning of the CCHS football player, hanging from the blazing mass of wood. It was a high for everyone! The band played and the Senior players spoke. The crowd was treated with a rap by Mike Rosenburg, Dave Boschetto, Mike Dmochowski, and Kevin Geary. Spirits were raised, and it payed off. Bedford destroyed CCHS the next day in an unbelievable victory. It was a day for rejoicing!

The day after Thanksgiving, the football field again was the center of activity during the annual Powder Puff game. The competition was within school bounds as the Juniors and Seniors battled each other 'till the bloody death. Some expert playing in the cold rainy weather proved the Seniors to be victorious. It was an exciting game and the Seniors well earned their title. Better luck next year Juniors, after all, not everybody can be a Senior!

Acting Out

Winning Performances

This year's Tournament of Plays was right up there with the best of them. The curtain opened to the Freshman performance of Just a Joke, featuring Laurie Mellmack in her debut performance of an amateur comedian. Talented Freshman Erica Willey walked away with the Best Newcomer award. The Sophomores put on the one act play Balcony Scene, starring Brian Fehlau as the deceased who watches the rest of the cast at his own funeral, and earned the award for Best Actor. The Juniors received the other Best Newcomer Award for Brian Sparrow's well done job in Dirge, a depressing tale of accidental murder. Brian and Dave Tobey were especially impressive in Dirge. The Seniors came out on top with their hilarious comedy, Roomers.

Rebecca Rosenberg took Best Supporting Actress, Erin Fehlau - Best Actress, Matthew Stein - Best Supporting Actor, and the entire cast earned the Best Play. It was a fun night for everybody!

The Variety Show on Dec. 1, 1990 was an experience as well. The acts included Stayin' Alive, again; Bust a Move II, the right way; Stop in the Name of Love; The Red Hot Chili Peppers; The New Kids (Dorks) on the Block; several impressive live bands; and a memorable and colorful live performance by Chicken Dinner.

The evening was a tremendous success and everyone walked away with a smile. There's no denying it - Bedford High School students really know how to have a good time!

Medieval Times

Wassail! Wassail!

December 7th and 8th were both enjoyable and educational experiences for everyone who happened to be fortunate enough to be present in the transformed new-cafe which for two glorious nights became known as the medieval dining room.

This years Madrigal Dinners were smashing successes. Besides the panicky 15 minutes Friday night before the start when the power went out, all went very smoothly. The guests were satisfied and impressed with the wonderful performance. In addition to the excellent food, singing, and acting, the royal strings and brass helped to contribute nicely to the Renaissance ambience. The entire room was surrounded in the aura of the medieval times.

The script this year was composed by the madrigal members Erin Fehlau and Christine Hamel. The entire production was directed by the Royal teacher, Mr. Low. Everyone involved was greatly appreciated and deserved a round of applause for a job well done - and that's just what they got.

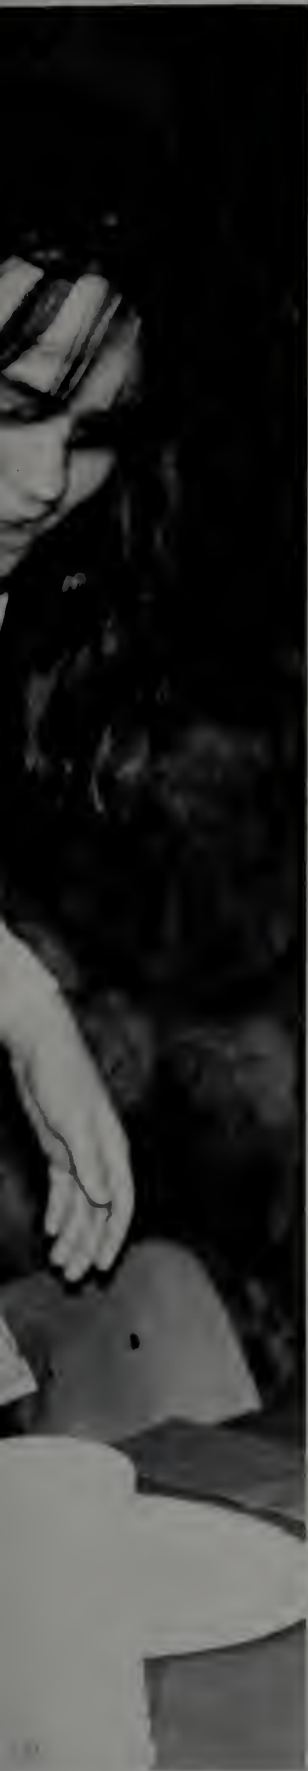

The castle's faithful wenches delivered the yummy dinner and sweet wassail which nobody could get enough of. Unfortunately, however, the evening did have to end. The festivities lasted a bit under two hours and everyone was sad to see it over. This new-old tradition is one of the BHS music departments favorites and will continue to prosper in the future. Thank you to all who participated in this culturally facinating endeavor.

"Oh boy, this Wassail looks good. I wish I could chug some!", thinks Tara Lee secretly.

Madrigal dinner-eaters Matt Knell and John Woolard appear enthralled after finishing a Renaissance tune.

Jacqui Shwimmer, Brian Fehlau, and Gretchen Ela play a happy tune on their medieval instruments.

"I can't think of a more - uh - interesting way that I could have spent my Weekend. What a blast...."
- John Woolard on the excitement of the Dinner

On the Air

Talking With Gene Burns

Earlier this year, BHS had a new and different experience - RADIO! Yes, Gene Burns brought his 10:00 AM - 2:00 PM WRKO Talk Show to the Bedford High School auditorium and was joined by Mr. Reynold's E-period Political Science Class. The topic of discussion was Question Three on the 1990 Referendum ballot. It all started early last fall when Matthew Stein and Dave Boschetto accompanied Mr. Reynolds to hear Gene Burns speak on CLT. Slightly unhappy with what Mr. Burns was saying, Dave and Matt approached him and after much ado, arranged to speak on his show. Later the arrangement was changed and Gene Burns agreed to bring the whole talk show to BHS! The Political Science class which had been discussing CLT at length spoke on the show about their opinions. All but one student opposed CLT, though that student didn't speak. Throughout the afternoon student after student stood up to the comments of Gene Burns and many other home callers.

Especially impressive comments were made by Dave Boschetto and Matthew Stein, though everybody in the whole class had extremely strong and sensible arguments. Mr. Reynolds had his say as well and wowed the whole crowd. Gene Burns was a tough nut to crack, so to speak, but Bedford High School's Poli-Sci class really gave him a run for his money. This event was something completely new to Bedford High School and it definitely separated us from the others. We should all be proud of Matthew and Dave and everyone else who helped out and especially to everyone in Mr. Reynold's class. You all know exactly what you're talking about, and you made all of BHS proud:

Moving Ahead

Striving to the Top

This year BHS went through several of its annual rituals without a hitch. Last fall Bedford was visited by several of the country's colleges and universities and each Sophomore, Junior, and Senior schlepped their parents or friends along to try to find their futures. The evening was a success as students talked and mingled with college representatives and asked questions and searched...This BHS tradition has plowed the way for many students and we hope it will be just as successful next year.

January 31, 1991 NHS held its annual induction for the 16 students. Speeches were given by Co-President

Liz Welch, Vice-President Judy Galani, Treasurer Dave Boschetto, and Secretary Megan Dworshak. The guest speaker was Mrs. Rainis from the foreign Language Department. She gave an inspiring talk on the importance of having a passion in what you do, and everyone was thoroughly impressed. The induction came off smoothly thanks to the help of Ms. O'Malley, Mr. Duggan, the officers, and basically everyone else involved. Musical accompaniment was provided by talented violinists Dave Hirsch and Karen Freeman. The entire evening was a terrific success.

Daymion Smith and Stephanie Anderson discuss their plans for the future.

Bienvenue!

Making an Exchange

Bonjour! Fourteen excited Sophomores and Juniors from Bedford High School traveled to Paris, France last April, 1990. This was an experience of a lifetime. These students found out about the true French culture. "It's a lot more than just a big tower, pretty paintings, and all the cheese you can eat," explains traveler Christine Hamel.

Wonderful friends were met during this three week visit. It was very sad for the students to say goodbye. However, they were jumping for joy as they waited at Logan Airport later that year in October. This time it's "Hello" as the etudiants Francais slumped through the doors at the arrival gates, ready for three weeks in the good ol' U.S. of A!

Showing these wide-eyed French correspondants the sights and sounds of the American lifestyle was a show all its own. Their "ooohhs" and "aahhhs" filled the halls of BHS as they saw-

....lockers, desks, smiling teachers, milk at lunch, the crazy costumes during spirit week, decorated halls, pep rallies, television in homeroom, just plain homeroom, and so much more that we here at BHS take for granted.

The French kids were also treated to the sights of Boston, and if they got matched with a good family - who knows where else!? There was a Halloween Party, several get-togethers, and even a talk show video/interview made at the end of their visit to remember the special occasion and to get everyone's views on it. The whole visit was a time to remember, for the French correspondents, for their hosts, and for the rest of us at BHS who got to experience this dose of culture hands-on.

Once again it was time to say goodbye. On that last day together there were teary eyes, big hugs, and promises of future visits. It was a terrific experience for everyone!

Moving Up

Out of the Crowd

Underclassmen officers have done an excellent job this year! Freshmen Sarah Rosenberg, Jessamyn Smith, Wendy Castellana, and Erin Smith have lead a number of activities which have brought them through the first step of the four year memory lane called High School. Their biggest event was the Variety Show in December. The large amounts of profit went to the Junior Class and will also be used during their Senior year. A very impressive Wizard of Oz was produced by the Freshman in the annual Hall Decorating contest. There are some very creative minds in that class and the officers are fine examples.

The Sophomore Class sold Champion Sweatshirts at a decent price and fared well. They held a dance as well in the New Cafeteria and worked up a fair treasury. The Sophomores Autumn-related Hall during Spirit Week was a fine show of their stuff, and they came in Second.

The Junior Class officers: Daymion Smith, Debbie Jones, Kelly Callahan, Tara Lee, and Karen Clancy exhibited tremendous class spirit as they took charge of the jewelry sale and collected money for this wonderful fundraiser. The Juniors, though they were disqualified, came through with a great Hall - Shipwrecked. This year the Juniors also deal with the hassle of Semi-Formal and Prom. Good luck to all three classes in the future!

The fact that the Senior Class has elected the same class officers two years in a row should say something. We like their hair-styles? Well, sure, but its more than that! These guys have worked hard, sweated, stressed themselves out - with and without the support of the rest of the class - to make every endeavor they encounter the best! The semi-formals, the proms, the Hall Decoratings have all been successful, well planned, and enjoyable activities and we couldn't have asked for better, more qualified leaders.

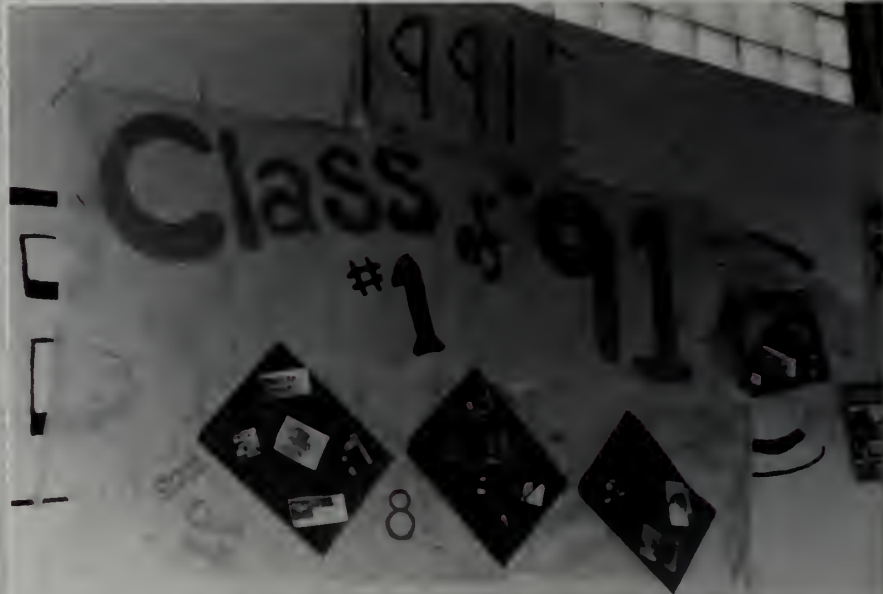

We'll all be saying goodbye soon, but before we go, we'd like to say thank you to Mr. Miliken and our beloved class officers for making our Junior and Senior years (the best years) exactly what they were - the best!!!

What is a mole?

"A furry animal that makes the brown dots all over your body." (Dave Gersh)
 "I don't know but I know Mrs. Tsefrekas has a lot." (Alex Brill)
 "I have two possibilities: a cute furry burrowing animal or what I have on my left cheek." (Mike Esposito)

What one food that they don't serve in the cafeteria should they serve?

"Filet mignon." (Dave Gersh)
 ""Hot" tuna casserole." (David Wigness)
 "Real food." (Alex Brill)
 "Teddy Grahams - the chocolate filling with vanilla cookie kind." (Brian Fehlau)
 "Cupcakes - strawberry and blueberry with oat bran served with chocolate sauce." (Mark McInnis)

What was the thing that gave you the most trouble in math?

"Not having a pencil for one of Mr. Sabourin's exams. Of course, the exams were a problem in their own respect." (Dave Gersh)
 "Attending class." (John Woolard)
 "Numbers." (Alex Brill)
 "Nothing, I'm perfect." (Brian Fehlau)
 "What was that little thing that I saw throughout the book? X?" (Dave Hursh)

What was the stupidest reason you were sent to detention?

"Throwing a pretzel on the floor in Home Economics." (Matt Ross)
 "Being late for school." (Alex Brill)
 "I blew my trumpet in Mr. Barbas's car and he got a little mad." (Laurie Sheflin)
 "I kicked a football through the cafeteria window - from the fifty yard line." (Scott Kleekamp)

What is your favorite sentence from a text book?

"The difference between a short story and a novel is something like the difference between a rifle and a cannon." - Great Short Stories (Dave Gersh)
 "Notice that in the preceding examples, each interrogative pronoun stands for an unnamed person, place, or thing." (Mike Esposito)
 "Solve each system; solve for y; solve for x - solving anything." (Betsy Carlton)

What was your most wild excuse for skipping school?

"I didn't feel like going." (Alex Brill)
 "Erin wasn't going, so why should I?" (Brian Fehlau)
 "Going to Scotland. What can I say, it got me out of two years of Bedford High School, right?" (Mike Esposito)
 "My knee felt so good that I had to take advantage of it, why waste it going to school?" (Jill Freeman)

Teachers and Friends

The Truth Behind the Faculty

It is rare that someone mention a teacher's name in this school without generating a good feeling. In addition to coaching sports teams, heading committees, advising academic clubs, conducting performing groups, and supporting BHS Athletics in their spare time, the teachers of BHS are always there for the students - be it as a coach, advisor, or friend. Not only are the students of BHS honored enough to have such a knowledgeable and learned faculty, but we students have found understanding playmates as well. Never is Mr. Stephenson too busy or tired to tell a bad joke or Mrs.

Hanley too busy to discuss someone's sex life. Mr. Reynolds always makes himself available to talk about the world or to shoot the breeze and Mr. Spinosa always has something brilliant to say.

The students of BHS are lucky to have such an open, appreciative, approachable, decent faculty. Thank you all!

Teachers: look back and remember this article as a token of every student's respect, especially while you're figuring out our final grades!!!

"What are you gonna do?" asks Mr. Pilla about the world today.

Mr. Rinaldi patiently guides Todd Melvin through his work.

Mr. Huff discusses the wonders of Geometry with an interested student.

Mr. Hunt beats on a poor student because of a comment about his tie.

Cliff's Notes

The Taboo of the Classroom

It's A period, Monday morning, you stumble down the dark and dreary hallway to Mr. Maxwell's English class. You slump into your seat and drop your head onto the desk hoping to catch a little sleep before the daily lesson. Suddenly...AAAAAH! It's the literature monster!

As a huge flash of light fills the room you jump out of your seat. The room begins to tremble and so do you. You thought you were going to die. But, no...it's worse! The literature monster thrashes at you with it's sharp claws and backs you into a corner. With a loud screeching voice he yells, "You must read The Scarlet Letter, The Crucible, Julius Caesar, The Illiad, and Huckleberry Fimm...by Thursday."

Sweat pours from your brow as you search your brain for a solution. That's when Super Cliff comes to the rescue.

I'd like to take a moment to thank Mr. Cliff, or perhaps Mrs. Cliff. We've all met him or her at one time or another. He and his experts who have had many years of experience have written critical evaluations. These evaluations are intended as a supplementary aid to serios students. These are ... Cliff's Notes!

Thanks, Cliff. You've saved the student population at BHS.

One last thing: These notes are not a substitute for the text itself or for the classroom discussion of the text, and students who attempt to use them in this way are denying themselves the very education that they are presumably giving their most vital years to achieve.

Jamie Bailey explains to Julie Merrill the disadvantages to using Cliff's Notes.

Ron Giscombe, Jason Dishman, and Todd Nelson actually plan to read the book!

Mike Pilla can't imagine using Cliff Notes. He's having too much fun reading the book.

If these cool guys say to open wide, I'm sure going to open wide!

Breaking the Rules

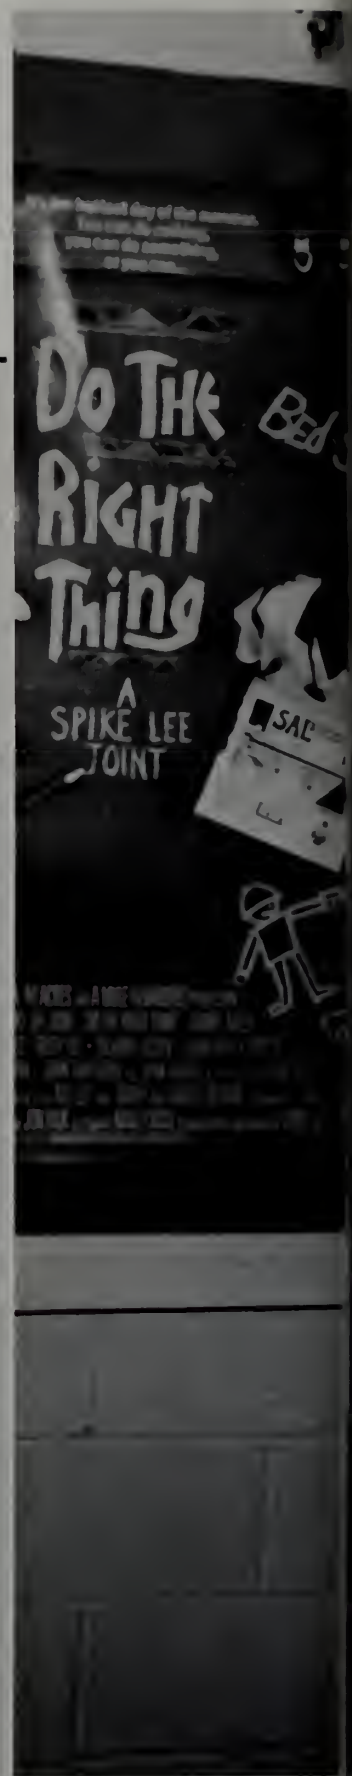

What Really Goes on Behind Closed Doors

When was the last time any girl walked into the Upper A-wing bathroom and wasn't completely engulfed by smoke? Or when was the last time NO ONE left the school to go uptown for lunch? And what class has ever not completely lied to the substitute about that days assignments? However, each of these infactions helps make BHS the fine learning institution that it is. These blemishes on the BHS reputation are infamous to the school name, yet even though they are "against the rules", nothing is being done.

Though they wouldn't admit it, I'm sure quite a few kids have cheated in their day. How can this be allowed? Would testing kids in seperate rooms work? Would strip-searching!!!!??? Maybe the Administration should put smoke detectors in all of the bathrooms. Maybe there should be armed guards at every entrance or window of the school or patrolling the parking lots constantly. These things may sound a bit severe, but so far putting trust in the students doesn't seem to be working. The honor system is a great thing - for those breaking the rules!

Why are the rules there, for show? Why aren't there alarms in the bathrooms or guards at the doors? Who is going to take the action? Well, BHS you made your own rules, and you're playing by them. And if you don't like the way it is - do something about it!

Matthew Stein causes a disruption in Mr. Stephenson's normally tame Calculus 5 class. He will be severely punished.

When it comes to breaking the rules, Bart Simpson says "No way man".

Jen Stafford and Jen Hanson make an interesting scene, appalling model students Kerry McGrath and Aniko Vanderlee.

Jeff Jones shares his answers with the entire class. In the future, Jeff, try to be more discreet!

Sometimes You Just Have To Say...

As the full moon rose over D Wing, Mr. Pilla began a rampage that would end only when his bloodthirst had been satiated.

Rachel, I'm telling you that the answer is Mozart's second concerto for three strings. No way Taylor, it his third concerto for two strings, you can tell by the third ritornello contrasted with the basso continuo on the harpsichord.

The class, Calculus Level Five. The time, Period C. Come on Mr. Stephenson, You can't be that cool! Who do you think you are, anyways? Mr. Pavao?

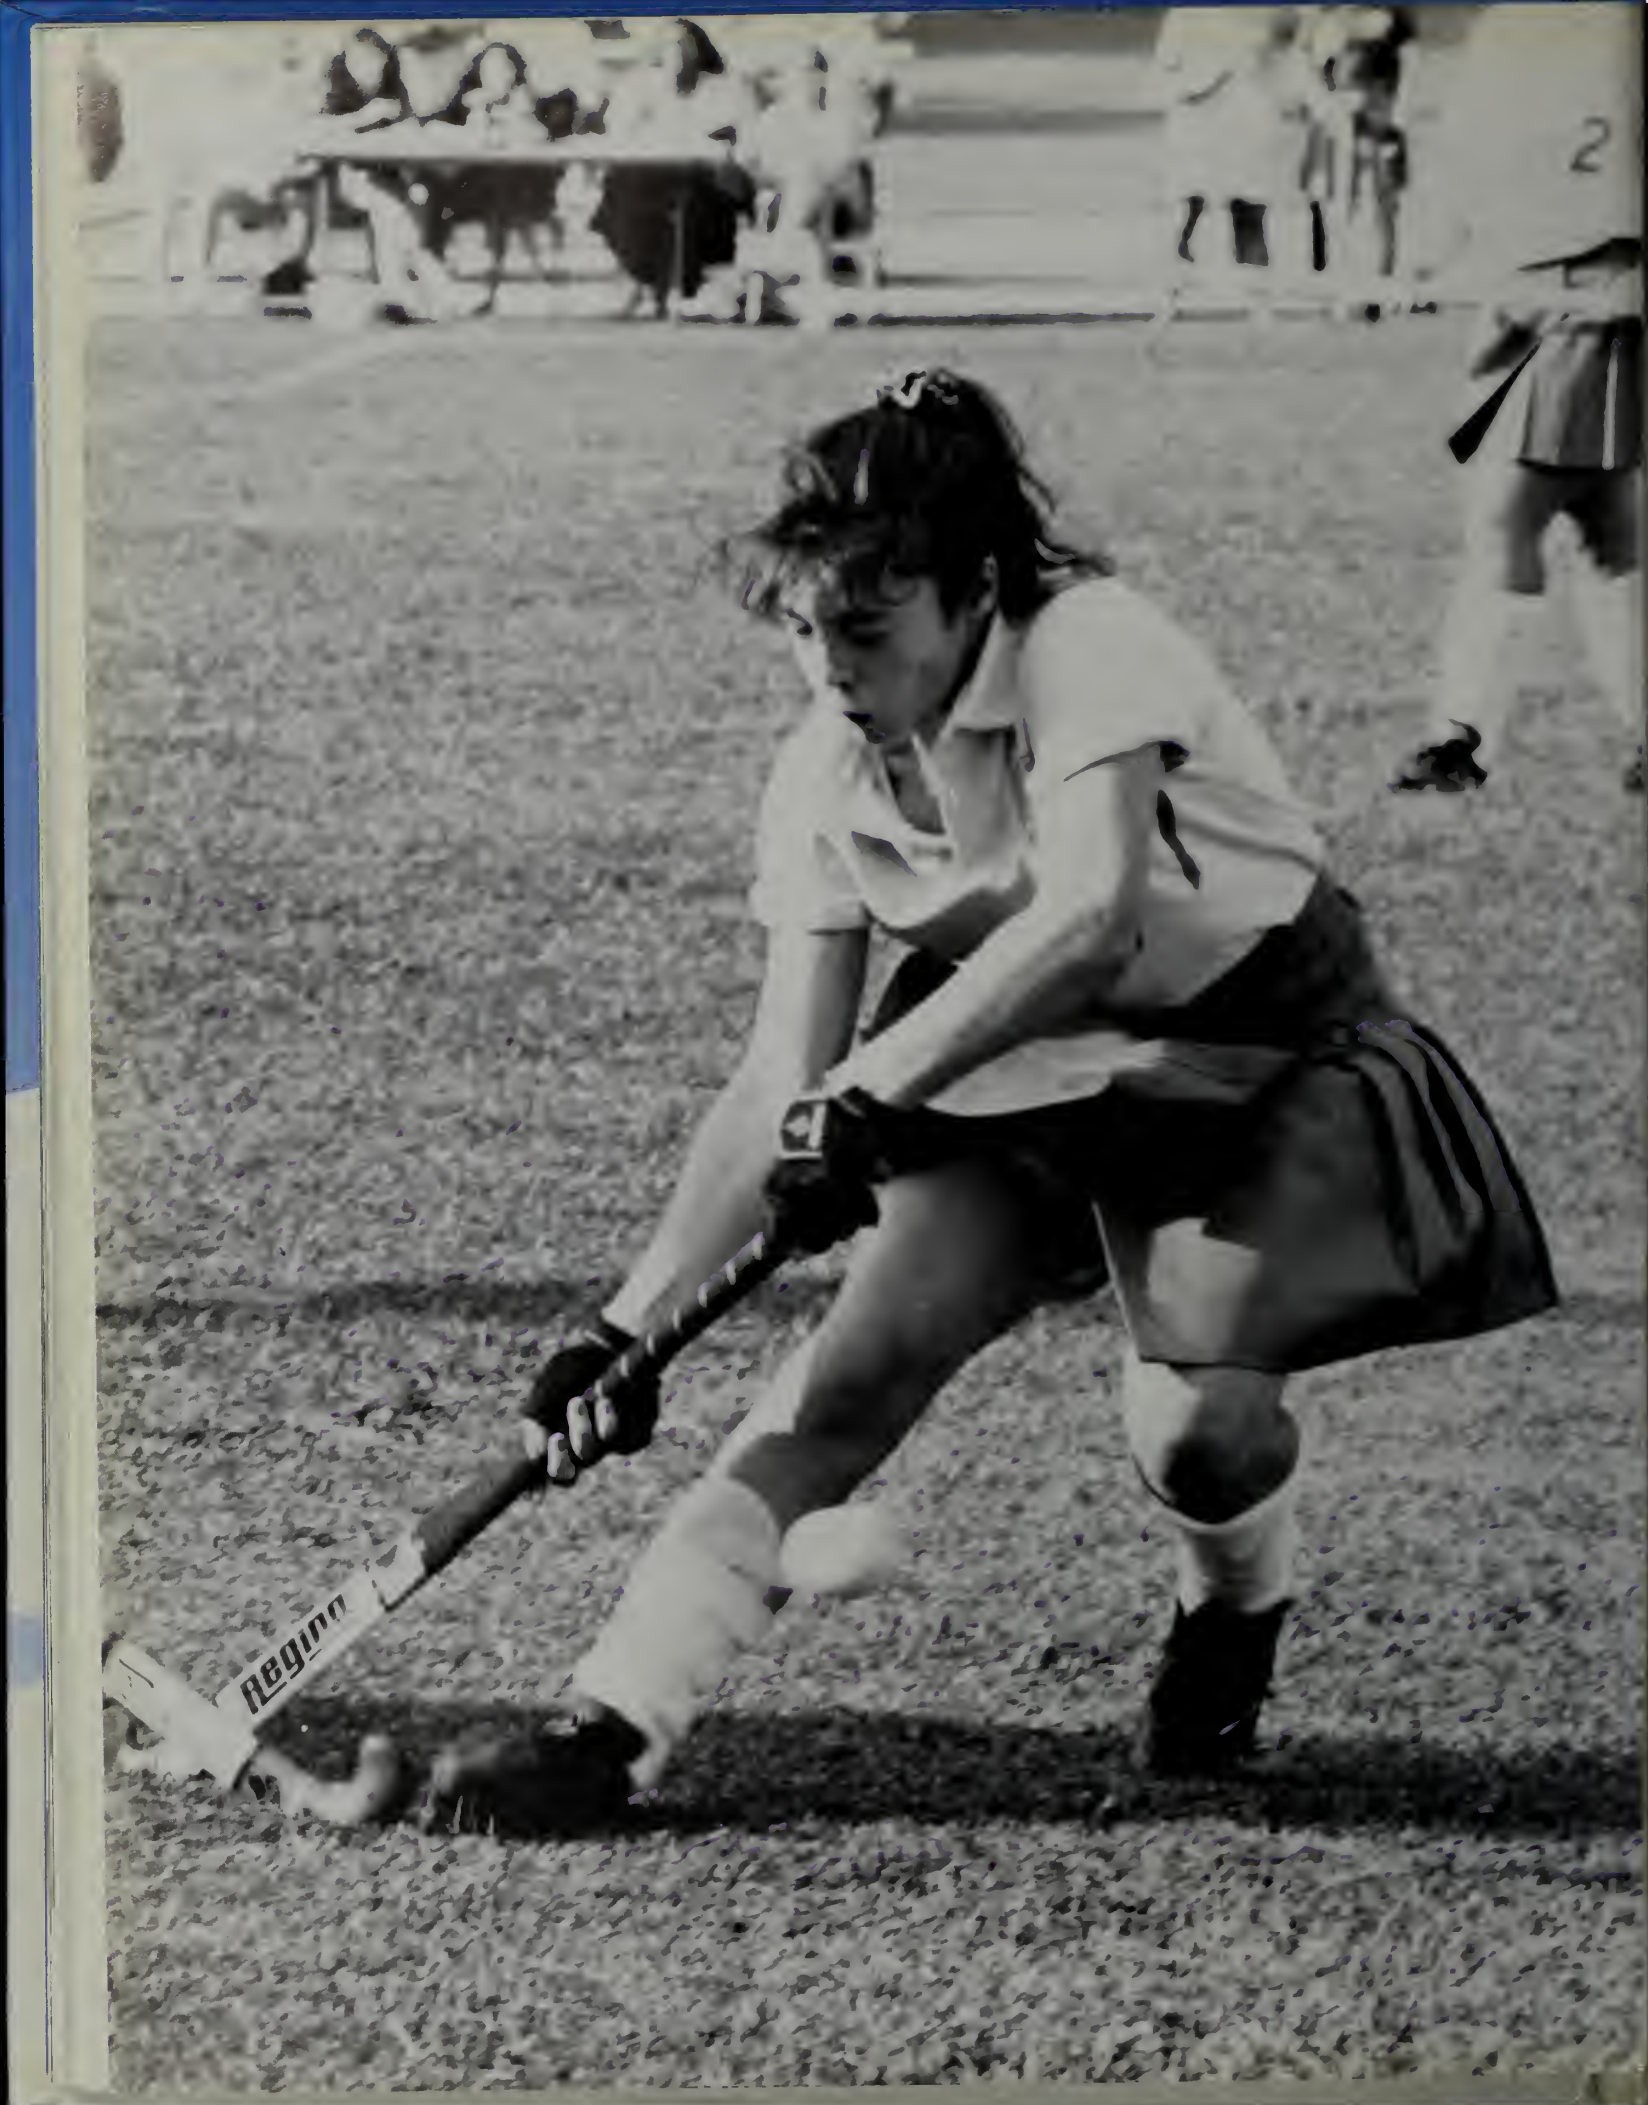

"Miss Fehlau, Is there something I should know about today's class?" Miss Cervo asks. "Heh, Heh, Heh" Erin responds sinisterly.

Come on you two, you're seniors! Models of responsibility and maturity for the younger students in the school..."Yes, that means no Patty-cake in Poly Sci, Tricia!

Anyone home you guys? Anyone...Anyone.....?

Sure Mr. Tingley, Put your feet up, lean back, relax...Mr. Tingley...Mr. Tingley?

Coming Out on Top

Charging Ahead

It's a happy time. It's an exciting time. It's "Hamby-time." It's football time.

Autumn has a special feeling here at Bedford High School. We all look forward to those Friday nights under the lights. This year's outstanding football team made the fall season go by quickly for the Bedford community.

Football games are packed with emotion. Those of us in the stands feel the fresh air on our faces, hear the energetic music of the band, and taste the delicious hot food as we listen to the voice of Mike Rosenberg announcing the fabulous plays of our friends on the field. We feel a certain sense of belonging, community spirit, and tremendous excitement. The whole town gathers 'round the football field to cheer on their home team and each week's game is an event in itself. Everyone looks forward to those Friday nights underneath the lights where we can display our true team spirit.

Well, for those of us safely on the sidelines, bundled up in our coats and mittens, it's a whole different ball game for the men on that field. They put every ounce of themselves into a match. Their effort shows that they don't just want to win for themselves or even the team - They want to win it for Bedford. Their incredible drive and spirit is apparent in their playing, and though the Bedford team has seen many problems over the past few years, we still have managed to make and keep a name for ourselves, especially this year.

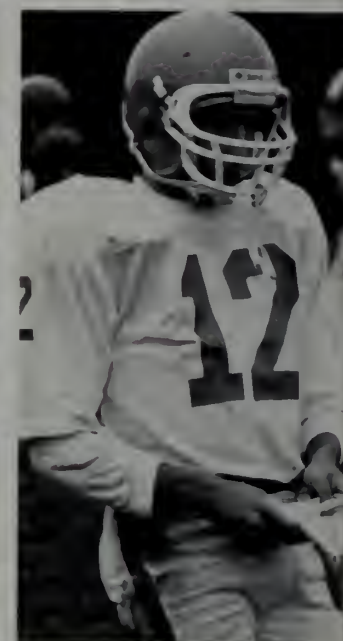

Our team had an excellent

1990 season. Playing under enormous pressure they demonstrated those characteristics needed to "do it right." — determination, strength, cooperation, responsibility, leadership and spirit.

Captains Tim McNeany and Marcus Kennedy helped bring the team to an awesome finish when we won at the annual Thanksgiving game against Concord Carlisle High School. We all thank the B.H.S. football team for giving the rest of us a great time to look forward to and now something wonderful to remember. Those seniors leaving us can look back on a super year with some unbelievable wins. Those returning can plan on an even better year in 1991. GOOD LUCK!

Swing Those Sticks!

A violent sport? Nah . . .

Does the thought of high school girls running around with big wooden sticks scare you? Does the idea of all them being after one small ball frighten you? Then field hockey is not the sport for you. Go watch football, or something else peaceful. These girls want to win, and within the complex rules, will do anything to reach their goal.

The field hockey team started the season with high hopes of success. This optimism was partly the result of a week spent in Field Hockey camp, where more members of the team were present than ever. The added advantages of this extra pre-season training wasn't necessarily evident in the team's record at the end of the season, but it certainly showed in individual games.

The misleading record, which showed only one victory, fails to show that Bedford kept the winning margins down to one point in over one-half of their games. Many times the Bucs led for the first half, but were unable to hold on to that lead.

Coach Helen Gfoerer (Ms. G) states that if it weren't for the small size, and therefore smaller endurance, of the team, they could have conquered many strong teams in the DCL. As well as size, most of the other DCL teams have years of experience on Bedford, some starting hockey as early as first grade. However, Bedford always proved to give a challenge to the opposing team.

Bedford had three DCL all-stars this year: sophomore goalie

Becca Mix, half-back Lynnette Blanchard, and full-back Rachel Meyers who made it quite difficult for the other team to score. The honourable mentions this year were Jen Cohen and junior forward Zuzka Volicer. The departing seniors will still remember their last season fondly, although they naturally would've liked to experience victory a little more.

Next year's team, although it will miss the many departing seniors, and captains Hamel, Dworshak, and Cohen, should be off to a good start. With goalie Becca Mix, and other talented juniors and underclassmen, especially the abundance of freshmen, the future looks bright.

OUT OF THE BLUE

"It's that simple!" -Coach Dave Wilson

The '90 season ushered out Dan Frost as Coach, and ushered in Dave Wilson. Coach Wilson brought a lot of new ideas, and the team was made up of a talented offense, experienced defence, and rookie goaltender, Chris Theophile. The team was led by captains Mark Gray, Josh Berman, Dave Boschetto, Jamie Asbedian, and Mike Dmochowski.

This year's team was just that, a team. The brightness of the team was far more than that of its individual players. The "Dream Bucs" weren't expected to go anywhere in post-season play, and certainly not to top every BHS team from the past four years.

The Bucs won the first game of the season, with Dave Zampese breaking the ice with the first goal, and Chris Theophile chalking up his first shut-out. Over the season, Theophile had xx shut-outs. The lead scorer for the Bucs was Dave Boschetto with 7 goals and 7 assists.

On October 29, the team had their last game of the regular season against Xaverian, whom they tied to advance to post-season play. The Bucs knew it was all on the line and pulled off a 0-0 tie, brought about by the excellent play of John Mara and Jon Koop.

After winning the first state game vs. LCA, the Bucs traveled to first-seeded Georgetown. The team battled through five overtimes with Georgetown and emerged in a dead-locked tie. With 25 seconds left in the sixth and final sudden death overtime Oliver Haas scored. Jubilant die-hard Bedford fans and players piled into a huge screaming mound in celebration of the unexpected but well-deserved victory.

The final game of the season was vs. North Reading. Mike Dmo and Pete Ansorge scored to put the Bucs into overtime. The final score was 3-2, N. Reading. Even though the team didn't win it all, they advanced further than any BHS guys' soccer team in the past 4 years. Next year's team will be losing thirteen seniors, and all but two of their starters, but this year's team has showed that it is impossible to tell how a team will do. This was one of the most thrilling seasons in years, and won't be soon forgotten.

Rocks on Roids

"Rocks on roids spirit will live on forever!" - Tricia McGovern

The Girls Varsity Soccer started out the season with a new coach, Lois Farrell. As an experienced player she was able to inspire her players to be enthusiastic and more skillful as the season progressed. In fact, the Varsity team finished with a better record in the DCL than the year before. As an example, this was the first in seven seasons that BHS led the Concord Carlisle Patriots for over half the game.

Their overall record was eight wins, nine losses and one tie. Tricia McGovern stated, "We had a lot of Rocks on Roids spirit."

We will miss the seniors: Michelle Boisvert, Kim Cardile, Holly Gray, Cindy Lenz, Andrea Griffin, Tricia McGovern, Monica Hunsader, Julie

Merrill, Marni Shay and Liz Welch. They all played their best. Michelle Boisvert kept up a strong defensive line, with the help of Kim Sands and Meg Boschetto. Marni Shay, Barb Brennen, Holly Grey, Monica Hunsader, Cait Hurley and Liz Welch had great offensive expertise. Linda Jones, the only freshman on the team this year, did a great job. Darrell Russell and Joyce Carroll hardly let any goals pass by them. Tricia McGovern, Laurie Sheflin and Andrea Griffin were awesome scorers. The whole team got into the idea of passing, and it worked very well. The defensive line's powerful kicks to the front line were very successful. The practice on trapping and faking the ball added to the greatness of the plays. The girls agreed that this season went by fast. Also that the team worked well together. One problem was that captains Liz Welch, Julie Merrill and Marni Shea were injured for a lot of the games. Holly Grey always seemed to enjoy falling. The injuries just goes to show how hard everyone tried.

Girls Varsity had a total of forty four goals for the season. The controversy game over Weston was won. One game against Lincoln Sudbury was won, but the second game was a hard loss. Both games were lost against Acton Boxborough. Both those teams have always been a trouble spot with the girls soccer. We can successfully say that Girl's Varsity Soccer had a lot of fun.

Marni Shea dribbles the ball aggressively.

OVER HILLS AND DALES

"We ran for miles and miles and miles..."

On any given gorgeous fall day, one can expect to see a pack of Buccaneers running at top speed along the roads and trails of Bedford. You might ask, "Who are they and what are they doing?". But it should be obvious through the dedication and high spirits they possess that this is NOT a new form of detention or a strenuous weight loss program. This is the CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM.

The Cross Country team's 1990 season was a lot of fun for everyone on the team. The team did not win very many meets, but everyone gave their best and there was much improvement. The Bucs were handicapped their lack of depth, and the loss of almost half last year's team.

The two captains were returning seniors Jack Geilfuss and Scott "Lenny" Granowitz. There were three other returning Buc Seniors. Joe Poulin and John Paschkewitz both made large time drops; John dropping more than forty seconds and Joe moving up to second seed on the team. Amy Wojnar, the soul female runner on the team, returned from an injury last season. Amy dropped more than a minute off her time, making the Bucs even more glad to have her back.

Other returning runners include Vin Welch, who improved in the team standings from fifth last year to second place this year. Vin also placed fourth in the boys Sophomore category in Division 2. This was a dramatic and encouraging development for the future of next year's team. Daymion Smith was another returning athlete. Daymion beat his personal record by more than thirty seconds.

New runners were junior Josh Buckley, freshman Ben Dick, sophomore Mike Esposito, and junior Scott Byam. All four worked hard and got better all through the season. Scott Byam was the most improved runner on the team, starting from a beginning of never having run before to becoming a valuable part of the team. Freshman Ben Dick placed 22nd out of Div. 3, 9th grade, which bodes well for the future of this hard-working, hard-playing team.

The cross-country team wants to thank Coach Dymont for the work he put in this season. Not only, through encouragement and tough training schedules did help improve the individuals on the team, his well-liked, fun-loving personality helped make the individuals into a true team.

m, Jack, we know cross-country requires dedication and many sacrifices for success, but couldn't they at least let you wear shoes?

"The Pin was in, you're bagged" -O'Malley

The Bedford Golfers began their year with a "gut feeling" that they could make it to the state tournament for the first time in eight years. The Bucs were led this year by a group of veteran Seniors, Matt O'Malley, Kevin Duris, Kevin Geary, and Joe Somerset, who all genuinely believed that the underdog Bucs could win the necessary 60% of their matches to make post-season play.

The first match of the year dampened the spirits of the team as Acton-Boxborough devastated the Bucs. Sophomore Dave Boffa was the sole winner in the loss. The Bucs knew they'd have to play better. Under the great leadership of Mr. Reynolds, the Bucs stuck together and were unbeaten in six out of their next seven matches.

With three matches to play, the Bucs were 4-2-1. The Bucs had two tough matches out of the three remaining. The first match was against Lincoln-Sudbury at their home course, Nashawtuc Country Club, which was postponed due to rain. The Bucs then traveled to the treacherous Concord Country Club where a powerful Concord team beat the Bucs. The first of the two remaining matches was a difficult one at L-S. Thanks to Matt O'Malley, who called a penalty on a player from L-S, and Kevin Geary who correctly realized that the penalty called for loss of the hole, and not just a two-stroke penalty. The golfers beat L-S twice in the same season, thanks to strategical advice from Reynolds. The best parts of the victory were the penalty that Matt O'Malley called and the Chinese Fire Drill in Concord Center. These fine men just had to win one more match, against Boston Latin to advance to States. The Bucs pounded Boston Latin in the final match to earn their spot in the tournament.

The Bucs didn't have a good day the day of the State Tournament. None of the players had ever seen the course before, which contributed to Bedford's loss. Matt McGarry fired an 86 to lead Bedford for the day.

The whole school remains 100 percent behind its state-going Bucs. The Golf team is an inspiration to us all. Its spirit and willingness is something to be proud of. Next year's team will feel the loss of four outstanding Seniors, but the returning underclassmen show enough talent that the future looks remarkably bright. Congratulations to all who participated, and good luck to Bedford Golf in the future.

Matt O'Malley looks a little upset. Seems our camera has caught his act of demonstrating his intense disappointment in making the shot.

BUILDING BLOCKS

Bedford Basketball looks to the future.

The most magnificent skyscrapers begin with building blocks. And when the Bedford High School men's basketball program achieves the goal of deep, versatile, dominant teams year in and year out, coaches and players will point to the 1990-1991 contingent as part of the foundation. For this team, despite a losing record, made its mark. The Buccaneers played every Dual County League team tough at least once, despite an almost complete dearth of experience. Senior Co-Captain Jeff Jones, playing as point guard all season, was one of the league's top scorers. His fellow captain, backcourt partner and returnee from 1989-1990, Dave Boschetto, personified leadership by example all season. Seniors contributing off the bench were Jim Cestrone, Jamie Asbedian and Christ Theophile. The starting forwards all season were junior Chris Alessi, whose court sense is complemented by his intense play, and sophomore John Mara, heir apparent to Bedford High scoring tradition. Lanky sophomore Jared Carlson showed steady improvement all season at center. Sophomores in reserve who made regular contributions were Scott Kleekamp and Cameron Demby, with junior Dave Wentworth and sophomores David Lord and Colin Ross swinging up to varsity from jayvee. Coach Jim Greenwood is looking forward to basketball pre-eminence with his nucleus of returnees plus this year's strong JV team. And when that success story is written, it will include a special place for the 90-91 seniors who helped build for the future.

Lady Bucs Score High

Their Best Season Yet...

On the first day of winter, the 1990-1991 Bedford High School women's basketball team turned up the heat. An overtime win at Boston Latin -- the first for any Bedford basketball girls against Latin -- sent a message: this team is something special. AND the Lady Bucs proceeded to warm the cold months with an outstanding 12-5 season and a trip to the dMIAA Division III State Tournament. The Lady Bucs were not a deep team -- only ten varsity athletes, including two who swung over from the jayvee. They were not an experienced team -- two seniors, just one junior, plus two sophomores with varsity experience. But they were a team of enormous character, as evidenced by the American flags and yellow ribbons they were to honor the troops in Operation Desert Storm. And they were a team of great talent and never-ending effort. Senior Kim Mello led the Dual County League in scoring and virtually was unstoppable at the low post all season. Tricia McGovern '91 seemed to be everywhere at both ends of the court, scoring from inside and outside and playing aggressive defense. The underclasswomen all played key roles: sophomore Jen Hanson's ball-handling, sophomore Darrel Russell's rebounding, junior Anita Bumann's outside shot, the strong two-way play of sophomores Tammy Lewis and Donna Quinn and freshman Lisa Thomas, and the reserve strength of the ninth-grade swingwomen, Cindy Hunt and Linda Jones. Coach Maureen Sullivan put it all together for her first tournament team. Judging by the enthusiastic response of the junior varsity, it won't be the last.

This year's Seniors - the heart and soul behind the Lady Buc Team - will be missed greatly by their fellow teammates in the years to come, but the future will be bright. With the excellent coaching and the promising athletes Bedford has going for it right now, we should have no problem keeping up the good work. It was an excellent season ladies - you made Bedford extremely proud! The games were a delight to watch and your hard practicing has been admired and appreciated. Keep on bouncing those balls!

HOCKEY BUCS CRUISE

Bucs have winningest season in years.

The pre-season scouting report looked promising for the Ice Hockey team this season. With three prospective skating lines and a strong defensive core anchored by seniors Steve Mead and Scott O'Brien, the Bucs were looking forward to a strong season. Senior rookie goaltender Paul Doherty led the Bucs to their most successful campaign in the past three years. Helped out by some much needed scoring, the Bucs quadrupled their previous year's win total. For the first time in years the Bucs were graced with three goaltenders, with Matt Stein doing much of the back-up work, and freshman Matt Gallant showing great promise for the next three years.

The goaltenders were helped out by the defense. In addition to Mead and O'Brien, Sean Mee and Jim Maddox were key contributors. Whether it was a booming slap shot from the point, or a thunderous bodycheck in the corner, the Buc's defense kept the team in every game, even when the Bucs were seemingly outmatched.

The increased number of wins can be attributed to a number of different things, but the offense proved early that it was more than capable of inflicting damage. Led by a core of seniors, rookie Wayne Sullivan and Ivan Wood were also important. The Bucs also benefitted from the play of a number of players off the bench. The scoring highlight of the season was when senior Todd Nelson netted his first high school goal during an early Buc win. Senior/rookie Joe Somerset was a crowd favorite with his stong shots.

The Bucs showed heart this season, and even though they often lacked the depth to keep up with some teams in the league, they were never out-classed. They showed their spirit three periods a night, every night. With any team, some chances will slip by, but the Bucs scrapped for every puck and kept their opponents thinking throughout this successful season.

GET SET, GO!

TRACK AND SKI GO FOR SPEED

Once again, the BHS ski team persevered through a season with little natural snow. The season was saved by the snowmaking at Nashoba Valley and the Weston Ski Track. The team placed consistently well in a league of larger schools, revived by the addition of many freshman and other new skiers to the team.

The girls' team was led by seniors co-captains Holly Grey and Eileen Shaughnessy. The trio of freshman skiers- Sarah Shamel, Carrie Ciaccia, and Jessica Turner - was a great benefit to the team. Sarah Shamel was the top racer on the team with her top finish of seventh place. Captains Josh Berman and Zach Keeting led the boys' team through a strong season. While battling for top places in the league, Josh and junior Tim Callahan tore through every race course in their way.

The cross-country ski season was greatly affected by the lack of snow, forcing the league to hold all four races at the Weston Ski Track. Holly Grey, Sarah Shamel, Eileen Shaughnessy, and Josh Berman led the cross-country racers. Sarah Shamel, racing for the first time, was a strong contender for the league skimeisterein award.

The Track team had a good season this year. They had a large turnout for both the girls and guys teams. For the girls, Cait Hurley in the mile, Andrea Griffin in the 300, and Barb Brennan and Stephanie Cann in the high jump were strong. Jack Geilfuss, Brendan McGrath, Keith Farmer, Lenny Granowitz, Mark Gallant, and Kevin Colman were also strong for the guys. Rich Higham and Tim McNeany were strong in the shotput. The team made the State Relays, in which several Bedford competitors are racing.

The team looks to a strong team with many strong returning competitors. The underclassmen have proved to be strong racers this year, and if the trend continues Bedford Track has extremely fruitful days ahead. The Seniors, however, will be sorely missed. The sixteen Senior members of the Winter Track Team have contributed much effort and speed into making Bedford the best it could be. Best of luck to both the track and ski teams in the future.

SHOOTING STARS

BHS Rifle Team shoots past opponents.

BHS Rifle Team? They've let BHS students loose with GUNS?? What's going on here? Don't worry- it's perfectly safe. But for those of you out there who are still just a tad bit worried, we have compiled a little (admittedly a very little) information about what goes on behind the closed doors of the BHS rifle range.

The rifle range? "BHS has a rifle range?", you may ask. To find it, just follow the muffled sounds of firing to the basement of the school. A half-hidden door leading out of the old weight room brings you into another world. The team uses .22 caliber rifles in matches against three other schools. The competitors shoot in two different positions. One is the offhand position. In this position, one stands and shoots. The other position that is used is the prone position. In the prone position it is necessary that the rifle be held very steady, so the gun is strapped to the body of the competitor. From both positions, the competitors fire at "bulls", calibrated circular targets. Only the top five scores count for the team.

For the past three years, the rifle team has won the state championship, and they have hopes of achieving that goal again this season. However, this year they face tough competition from Gloucester High. The team is coached by BHS science teacher Mr. Keup for the eighth year. The members of the team, Eric Young, Eric Pearson, Jill Freeman, Dave Gersh, Brian Drohan, Mike Rossi, Sasha Korik, Samir Kapuria, Brian Jardine are led by captain Kevin Duris.

The team has had a good season. Duris was the high scorer of the team, but all members contributed. The seniors, Duris, Kapuria, and Korik will be sorely missed as the heart and soul of the team. However- don't despair! The underclassmen are strong enough that the future of the team should be as bright as the past. Hopefully pioneer Jill Freeman's efforts will encourage more girls to go out for this sport, and add even more depth and versatility to the team. We wish the rifle team best of luck on their quest for the state title, and in the future.

SPLASHING AHEAD

BHS Swimming shows strength and spirit.

Bedford High School doesn't have a pool, and some people, freshman especially, are always surprised to learn that BHS supports a swim team. The team practices at Shawsheen Tech. four times a week, and competes with teams in the DCL. However, BHS's team has one major difference from that of many other league teams. It is co-ed. This means that although Bedford has both boys and girls on its team, it must compete against many teams that are solely male. This puts Bedford at a strong disadvantage since the girls must compete directly, in the same heats as the guys, and stand less of a chance of scoring points.

Another disadvantage faced by the Aqua-Bucs is that of depth. Few people possess the dedication, spirit, and willingness to try (and to get wet) of the team, and against huge teams of fifty swimmers, Bedford is simply swamped. But don't think that the team is not successful. Success in competitive swimming is marked by personal gains, not points, and the win/loss record is incidental. This year's team was blessed with a lot of talent. Freshman speed demons Beth Mara and Heather Young cruised by competitors in breaststroke and backstroke (and all other events) and show great promise for even more improvement. Other newcomers, Brian Mahoney, David Jones, Wendy Castellana, Jessica Higley, and junior Rachel Kiessling also added to the team. Juniors Lynna Blasioli, Lester Pullen, Frank Welch and speedster Scott Byam showed good form and much improvement. Captains Megan Dworshak and Liz Welch led the team in swimming and diving. Kathy Schowalter, returning after three years and knee surgery, and Alex Freeman also helped the team. The size of the team fluctuated at every meet due to illness and injury, but they kept on nevertheless.

The divers had a great season. Liz Welch scored over 200 for the first time ever, and qualified for the championships. Also qualifying were sophomore Krystin Carpenter and junior Valerie Heimple. Freshman Wendy Castellana improved incredibly during the short season as the only swimmer/diver on the team. The future looks bright for the team, and we wish them luck.

Rachel Kiessling can't believe Mrs. Mara is giving her the right time.

Keeping Spirit Alive

Shaking Their Thaiiing!!

Every town needs spirit. Well, Bedford High School certainly has it. Thirteen girls dedicated their time and energy to a crowd of sport's player's families and friends throughout the fall and winter seasons. Their exciting and creative cheers not only entertained the spectators, but they also encouraged audience participation and basically boosted everyone's spirit.

These girls work together to produce outstanding routines. Senior co-captains, Alicia DeLuca and Stephanie Miller, lead the group of four Juniors, three Sophomores, and four Freshman. All of their tremendous efforts paid off. The team got "psyched" and so did all the viewers on the edge of their seats.

Their happy faces and supporting cheers helped the teams to many thrilling victories. The football games would not be complete without them. They are a very important contribution to Bedford athletic fans. Thanks for helping our teams along and for making the games fun with your positive outlooks and smiles!

Swinging Their Stuff

Armed and Dangerous

Bedford's baseball and softball teams this year were outstanding. Their many successful accomplishments are definitely not times to be forgotten. Each player was determined to make this time the best. Not only did they have individual pride, but their fine team effort brought the whole thing together.

The teams both had plenty of enthusiasm, that's for sure. Everyone was ready to go out and beat their opponents. Well, their motivation paid off and we celebrate their fantastic season.

Jodi Russo's amazing pitching for the girl's stunned other teams and Mike Blasi's fastball surely got some attention for the boy's team as well. Every player was unique in style, but these styles were combined to produce two unbelievable teams.

The girl's, fresh from their state-winning year last year, continued to shine. The lady bucs proved again how unbeatable they are with star playing from Holly Grey, Jodie Russo, and Monica Hunsader especially.

The boy's were coming back from an interesting season as well, though many of the players had suffered from lack of playing time. Kyle Gelormini states, "As third base coach, it looked like the rest of the team was having a great time." Paul Doherty supports Kyle's feelings. "Baseball's fun", Paul replies, "but it's better when you get to play." They, along with everyone else was very anxious to get out on the field, and they did. The entire season was filled with many exceptional plays, and Paul and Kyle finally got some action. (On the baseball field, that is!!)

With several talented underclassmen returning, Bedford has exciting times ahead in the years to come. So, good luck, BHS baseball and softball! Thanks for all the action!!!

Seniors Mary Atkinson, Rachel Meyers, Tricia McGovern, Rachel Pollock, and Amy Borshay form an intimidating gang of tennis players.

They Know How To Hit Balls

Heads Up!!!!

Tennis - what a concept! A game that turns a bunch of preppy athletes, normally tame people, into mad-people with oddly shaped sticks and a vengeful swing. Who else but crazed idiots would stand on a small court and allow their opponents to continuously aim balls directly at them, with the protection of a few measly strings tied to some metal? Well, that's our tennis team and we're very proud of them!

The boy's team displayed some fine playing this year, in particular from seniors Sean Deardorff, Dave Boschetto, and Joey Somerset. Other up-and-coming players included Craig Gottlieb, Frankie Welch, and several new Freshmen. When asked to divulge to the world what exactly his amazing secret to his amazing skill is, Sean Deardorff tells us, "Well, what I try to do is hit the ball with my racket after it comes over the net at me. That's what I try to tell, you know, the lesser players to do. It really makes for a good game!" No wonder our team is so good. They have an absolutely amazing strategy. Coach Deardorff is very proud, I'm sure!

The girls, led by seniors Amy Borshay and Rachel Pollock, faired decently as well. Sage Browne and Kristen Larsen are two younger players who also made names for themselves. The girls team stuck together great and spirits were always kept high. As Rachel Pollock comments, "The most important thing is to have fun. We go out there and do our bests, and even if we don't win we know that we're better than all of those fat and ugly tennis monsters who beat us!!" What a super attitude! Once again, the girls were coached by Mrs. Aldorizio.

Both teams showed great spunk and should be congratulated on a job well done. Good luck next year!

Lacrosse: A Gentleman's Game

"I only go to Lacrosse games to watch Jon Hamby" - Kevin Geary (Lacrosse Fan)

Once again the Lacrosse team came through as one of the hardest working teams that Bedford has. Returning seniors Jon Hamby, Tim McNeany, Pete Shammon, Steve Mead, Jon Koop and others really showed their stuff along with the help of talented newcomers. Mr. Flannery returned on as coach and lead his team to a successful season.

Other up and coming players include Steve Craig, Tim Callahan, John Ginn, Josh Cohen, and more. These guys are learning the tricks of the trade in order to take over once Bedford has retired its Senior stars. All team members got into the groove together and worked that way all season to becoming one good looking and quick-moving bunch. The practices paid off and some of the games were successful. All in all the season was a good one.

Home games were played at the Junior High, yet the team still managed to receive a very large crowd of fans, always there to cheer the Bucs on. The team made a very impressive sight (and they didn't look too bad in their little shorts either!). They worked hard, but had a good time, and it showed. As Tim McNeany puts it, "As long as Hamby doesn't pass, we should do all right." And following the advice that the Lacrosse team has long followed doesn't hurt, "Everytime you get the ball you should shoot."

The Lacrosse team is and will always remain the most violent team Bedford has. Pete Shammon leaves us with this thought, "It's cool to see how many layers of Josh Cohen's underwear you can rip!" That it a fascinating thing! Anyway, the Lacrosse Team deserves a big round of applause. Great job, and keep bending over in those little shorts. to use my stick in interesting ways." Anyway, the Lacrosse team deserves a big round of applause. Great job, and keep on wearing those little shorts. If your playing won't grab the spectators' attention, your legs might! As one anonymous fan says, "I'd rather be watching Lacrosse than Tennis."

The Lacrosse team attempts to look cool. I guess they've succeeded.

Several discontented players look on in disbelief as the team experiences some bad karma.

Leaving the Rest in the Dust

"Bummer" - Jack Geilfuss

The Bedford boy's and girl's spring track teams shined last year. Despite a lack of depth, strong individuals were able to make up for the small number of participants.

The girl's track team, in particular, lost quite a few members. Some of the members were participating in the Foreign Exchange Program and others suffered injuries. Amy Andrade was unable to finish the season as a result of knee injuries and Lynette Blanchard missed several meets because of injuries as well.

Cait Hurley was virtually unbeatable in the 400, and also powerful at long distance aces. Rachel Campbell continued to dominate in the 200 and 100. Campbell tried hurdles for the first time and faired quite well. Jen Cohen was also a driving force in the hurdles and the long jump. Cohen also broke the BHS triple jump record, and she now holds two girl's track records - one in the triple jump, and one in the 300 hurdles. Andrea Griffin showed her speed in the 200 and Darrell Russell won the league for the Javelin. Barb Brennan was met with continued success in the high jump.

On the boy's team, Chris Blondin was a key competitor in the long distance events. He was especially dominant in the mile.

Mark Gray continued his excellence in the sprints and was joined by Mike Dmochowski, a new member, who also performed very well. Mike Huffman provided a strong Bedford 4 x 100 team with their fourth member. Chris Theophile, also a new member, threw the javelin and provided the team with much needed depth. Long distance runners Scott Granowitz, Jack Geilfuss, Joe Poulin, and John Paschkewitz all were extremely dedicated and leading contributors to this fine team.

Congratulations to both teams for two fine seasons and excellent athletes. Thanks for all the hard work!

"March Naked" -Judy Galani

This year's Bedford Highschool Marching JBand show opened up with "Shinedown," then continued through the entertaining "Under the Sea." The band front feature, "Summertime," follows during which the majorettes and the flag squad perform a complicated dance routine. The show then concludes with the dramatic "Carolina in the Morning."

This year's performance was outstanding. Under the direction of Mr. Steven Barbas, an exciting and innovative field show was produced.

The band did very well in competition this year. They captured the bronze medal at the MICA band competition in October. The audience was fascinated as they watched the band's creative and original movements from Boston University bleachers.

It has been a very successful season with Mr. Barbas and drum majors, Erin Fehlau and Donna Wilson. The band looks forward to another great fall next year.

Color Guard

Showin' Some Leg

"Hey, Color Guard - show us how you get down!", the cheerleaders cheered at games and on bus rides. This cheer stuck with the flag squad and majorettes throughout the season, as well as other cheers and chants marking the girls with true spirit.

The squads performed to the field show music "Shine-down"; "Under the Sea" which featured flag twirlers Lisa Cadotte, Jodi Cohen, Tara Lee, and Rachael Berkowitz; "Summertime", where both squads combined in a dance choreographed by Lisa Sheridan, and Jenne DiNitto performed a rifle solo; and "Carolina in the Morning".

Although the Majorette Squad was smaller than in the past, it was no less dazzling. Led by Captain Nancy Saunders the squad included three juniors: Sage "Cinnamon" Browne, Krista "Sista" DiNearo, and Jennifer "Clammy" Peterson. Coach Judy Jones helped the girls write their routines, but sadly retired at season's end after four years with BHS Majorettes.

The Flag Squad, led by Captain Michelle Dee, assistant Captain Theresa Concannon, and Coach Paula Gullage, marched proudly on to the field with creative routines. Long, enduring practices made their performance sensational.

Bus rides to competitions and away games highlighted the season for both squads. With cheers, chants, and loud music the spirit and talent of the Color Guard got them a five-star rating at the Abington Band Jamboree. We are very proud of this year's Color Guard, and say a fond goodbye to the Seniors who will be leaving. To the rest of you: Congrats and good luck next year!

Playing Their All

"I live soley for Wind Ensemble" - Kevin Duris

Wow! The BHS music department has outdone itself once again, but who are we kidding? With the talented students and enthusiastic faculty at Bedford, its a wonder that we're not nationally renowned for our success. Back to the real world (that opening sentence is something to show your grandkids), the instrumental faction of the BHS music world is doing OK - more than OK, in fact. Under the direction of Steve Barbas, the Wind Ensemble and Concert Band are playing challanging, fun, and exciting pieces, one's well worth the Level 5 credit the kids in Wind are receiving. The Wind Ensemble, acceptance by audition only, shares its students with the Marching Band (a mandatory requirement) and is only getting better. Many Concert-banders opt for the Marching Band route as well, but it is only an option. Both bands performed in February and May at the concerts, seperately and in the combined Symphonic Band, and Wind Ensemble members participated in several recitals throughout the year.

Orchestra and Chamber Music were directed by everyone's favorite String Conductor, Jennifer Anderson, and both groups are as impressive as ever. Chamber Music, which meets every even day before school, performed in several concerts throughout the year, including the Christmas, February, and Spring concerts, and the Madrigal dinner. For the little sleep they end up receiving, they sound pretty good. Orchestra performs at each concert as well, displaying their immense talent. Also, members are a part of the Full Orchestra, with some Wind Ensemblists.

Out of the...Mouth

"Madrigal has prepared me for 'real life'" - Matthew Stein

"I'M VERY PLEASED WITH THIS GROUP!" Well, I think that goes for everybody. The Vocal section of this year's music department is super! Mr. Low, resident vocal-Buddha is the inspiration that did it. All of his practices and demands paid off at events such as the Madrigal Dinner, the Christmas and Spring concerts, and various other gigs the vocalists performed at through the year.

The Madrigal is a select group of students, selected for their incredible talent and spunk, in in some cases for bribing the director. Their repertoire included tunes A cappella from the funky to folk. They were a much enjoyed and appreciated group. Some other hot chicks in school are the members of the Double Sextette. These babes entertained everyone with singing and dancing numbers, such as their Christmas medley and other favorites. Performances occurred at the usual concerts in December and May.

Choir members have it good. Who else can subjected to Mr. Low's captivating company and get school credits for it? This happy family sounds great, too. Their neat little numbers brighten the hearts of all who hear them. Keep up the good work! Believe me, we all are counting on you! Barbershop Octette is a new thing here at BHS, and these foxy babes keep all the women cheering. Basically - they sing, and they sing well. I'm sure BHS will keep this crew as a tradition long realized. Show Choir is another of the many talented groups. This sixteen member organization is peppy and fun, and they wear cute hats. This is the second show choir year for BHS, and again, this group is entertainment.

Mr. Low, we're all pretty pleased with your work, and the work of your kids. Keep it up, and keep on singing!

Rachel "Myles" Meyers appears to be in awe after asking if she'd drop out of Madrigal for a million dollars. "No way", she answered later. "Madrigal is the only sick pleasure I get in my pathetic life!"

Culture Clubs

"I really am in Latin Club" - Kevin Geary

The Foreign Language department at Bedford High School has developed over the years into a highly respected area of education. The faculty is truly dedicated and the program is interesting. Not only are the classes stimulating, but there are also clubs for each of the three languages : Latin, French, and Spanish.

Most of the language students participate in the club activities. They are a great way to meet people who "parlez" the same language, and always to have a fabulous time. The year starts with the traditional Halloween party at school. Students wear crazy costumes and do crazy things involving donuts, being tied up, and an abundance of water. There is friendly competition amongst the three groups. However, each club deep down knows who the best is!!!

The purpose of the Foreign Language clubs is to give the Foreign Language student a chance to enjoy himself! Activities include: holiday caroling, theme parties, lollypop telegrams, flower sales, immersion weekends, and the French Club Dating Game. What other club promises to find the mate of your dreams?!? All of these activities over the year culminate with Foreign Language week, and especially the international cafe and dinner. Language "room decorating" has become the new fad, and each language has a great time with all of the preparations.

Each Foreign Language Club has had a very successful and enjoyable year!

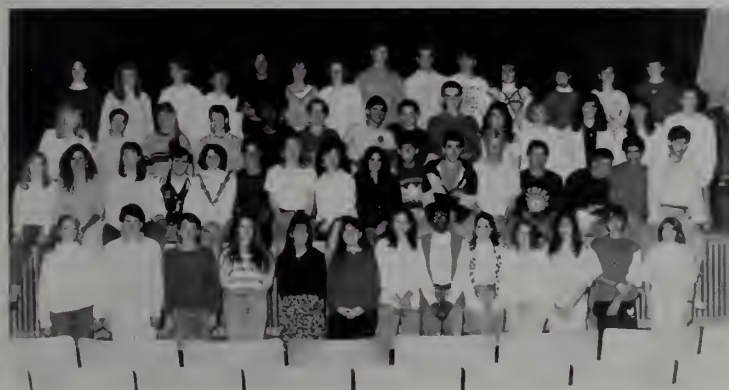

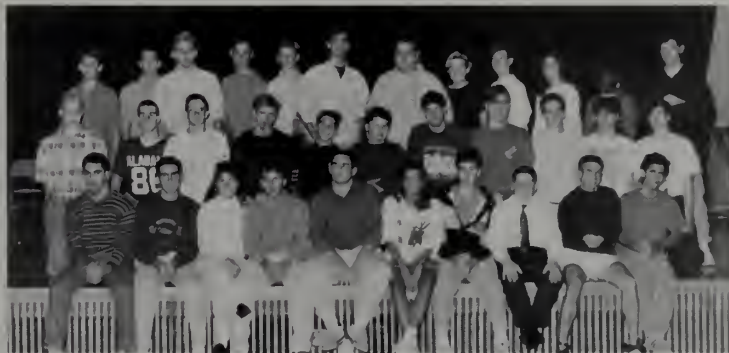

There is nothing more exciting than a French Club meeting, agree Andria Pomponi, Jacqui Shwimmer, Gretchen Ela, and Tara Lee.

Spanish Club President Shari Erlich is extremely pleased with the Spanish Club booth at Bedford Day.

"Kinibati...Is that something to eat?"

AFS stands for American Field Service and is an international organization to connect young people from all over the world. The first time when I heard of AFS I wasn't very psyched up, because everything seemed so unreal and why should I spend one year in a foreign country? But after I went to the first AFS meeting, I was completely lost. I wanted an application as fast as possible and to go to....America.

The huge and wide America where all the big stars are living. That was my first thought, but during the year I changed mind, because America is more than that.

After you signed up you won't get bored, because of all the paper work you must fill out. But time goes faster than you notice and soon you will be sitting in the airplane with all the others who want to have that life experience. You will make friends with people from countries you never heard of (Kinibati...is that something to eat?) You will hear stories, songs, or problems that will make your mouth stay wide open. After all I only can say that I'm lucky to live in Bedford, because all the guys in or outside school are so kind and help me to make this year to such a great experience. I will never forget the fun and also the sadness I had during this year.

So, if you are still not psyched, go to an AFS meeting and get lost like I did.

SHOW YOUR STUFF

In The Spotlight

Not every high school has been as lucky as Bedford High School in the talent department. Our young actors and actresses shine on stage while the students in Telemedia strut the stuff behind the scenes.

The Drama Club puts on a variety of productions. The Tournament of Plays, held in November, begins the year with a competition between the classes. In 1990, the seniors emerged victorious with a comedy entitled "Roomers" by Jerome McDonough. Seniors also received awards for Best Supporting Actress (Rebecca Rosenberg), Best Supporting Actor (Matt Stein) and Best Actress (Erin Fehlau). Other awards given were: Best Actor-Brian Fehlau, sophomore; Best Male Newcomer-Brian Sparrow, junior; and Best Female Newcomer-Erica Willie, freshman. The juniors did a commendable job with their play, "Dirge", also by Jerome McDonough. The plot revolved around the execution of an eighteen year old boy for murder. The sophomore entry, "Balcony Scene", by Donald Elser, took place at the funeral of a young man. The freshmen showed good effort with the other comedy of the night, "Just a Joke" by Michael Scantan. We look forward to seeing them more in the years to come.

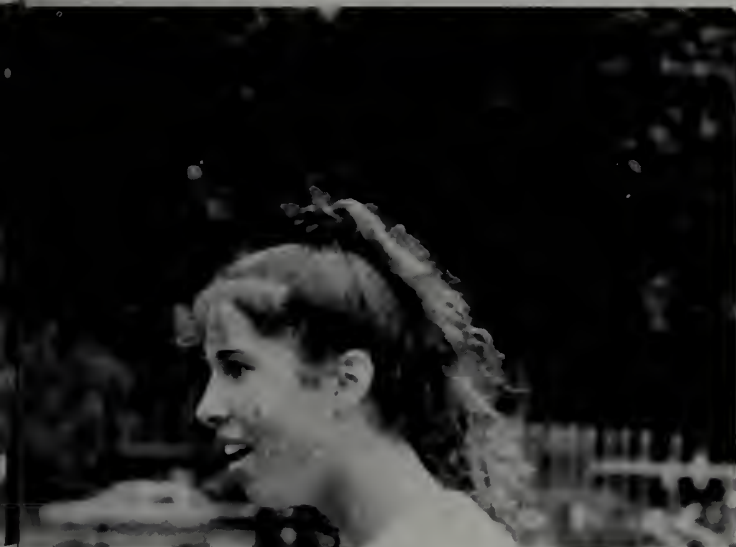

Telemedia gives students a chance to explore the technical and on-screen aspects of television production on the morning show. This year the name of the show was decided by a school-wide vote and the winning name was "Yo! Homeroom!" At 7:40 AM every weekday morning, students were greeted by the smiling faces of Telemedia's "talent" people ready to share the day's announcements. Telemedia participation flourished this year due to the guidance of its advisors, Dr. Morse and Mr. Dooley.

STRIVE FOR GOALS

Leaders of Tomorrow

Bedford High School's finest young minds gather as one in National Honor Society. To be inducted in National Honor Society, a student must possess the qualities of Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service, not to mention an 88 average in all of your classes. In 1990, the co-presidents were Matthew Stein and Elizabeth Welch, the vice-president was Judy Galani, the secretary was Megan Dworshak and the treasurer was David Boschetto. David Boschetto says about being in National Honor Society, "What can I say? Nothing looks better on a college application than being a National Honor Society officer. Just kidding! I'm really in it for the community work." Christine Hamel says, "We have potential to do great things. We'll have fun wrapping presents - I'm sure." Members run a tutoring service available to any student in the high school, organize fund raisers, and participate in Back-To-School Nights, eighth-grade orientation, and the annual phonathon for the American Heart Association (It looks great on a college application, too!)

ROTC is made up of a very well disciplined group of students. The ROTC Drill Team competes in four yearly competitions against approximately fifteen other schools. You can also see them at every home football game to help the audience and the Marching Band salute the American flag. The Drill Team practices for many long hours to provide us with top quality maneuvers and entertainment. They have also managed to keep the entire school body well fed by their sales of candy. Just remember that you can always pick up a candy bar in room E10. Keep up the good work!

USE YOUR MIND

Pursue Academic Excellence

Over the course of the school year, some students get the urge to tax their brains outside of the classroom. They flock to the Science League, Math League, the Debate Team and Forum.

Under the able direction of Mr. Ullmann and Mrs. Krueger, the Science League rose to new heights while pondering Newton's Law and divining the molality of different substances. Captains, John Paschkewitz, Chris Hirsh, and Jack Geilfuss have managed to bring the team success with their able leadership and instruction - not to mention doing last minute projects before competitions!

The Math League gave a good show under the fearless leadership of Mr. Richard "The Lionhearted" Stephenson. The members of the Math League attend six competitions per year. We have managed to do fairly well at these competitions - even though our record stinks, the Math Leaguers try to make a good time of whatever they do. It is understood that they usually succeed there.

The Debate Team learns how to argue effectively under the guidance of Mr. Milliken. Long hours were spent researching, writing, and rehearsing their arguments. The five members of the Debate Team continuously show their strength and how much they care by the amount of time that they put in to the team. Considering how few members there are - they exhibit a terrific effort!

After many obstacles in the way, Forum finally materialized again at Bedford High School. It's new, improved format provided hours of enjoyable reading. Special thanks go to the faculty advisor, Mr. McCarthy. Andy Taylor and Kevin Geary had a lot of trouble getting Forum off the ground at the beginning of the year, but they somehow managed to pull it off. The entire student body thoroughly enjoyed reading the many issues that were published.

Mark McInnis smiles as he comes up with a terrific idea for a story for the Forum newspaper.

SPEAKING OUT

Caring Committees

Students at Bedford High School who wish to get involved with the student body and the community can do so by joining the Legislative Committee, the Citizenship Committee, and the Student Advisory Committee.

The Legislative Committee meets to make decisions on important issues concerning Bedford High School and its students. This group is very impressive because they do not have a faculty advisor, but meet on their own, although Mr. Duggan sometimes meets with them. The Co-chairpeople are Judy Galani and Kathy Schowalter. They vote on whether or not new clubs can be admitted. This year, the two new clubs they admitted were Young Americans for Freedom and Amnesty International.

The Citizenship Committee contributes to charities, especially those to help the needy. Every year Bedford High School does its part for the Globe Santa program. Citizenship Committee also has a large part in the new recycling program that was established at Bedford High School this year. Many thanks to Mr. Spinosa, the faculty advisor.

The Student Advisory Committee is elected by the entire student body at the beginning of the year. They meet with Mr. Duggan and the school board to present concerns of the student body.

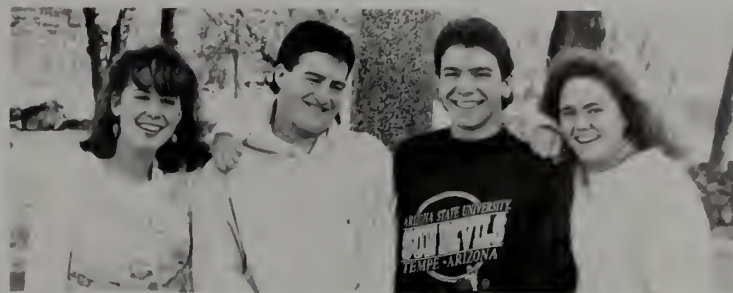

Every year the American Legion Auxiliary invites students from Bedford High School to participate in Girls' and Boys' State. For one week, students learn about the running of government by forming their own. The week isn't entirely work and the Girls' and Boys' Staters have plenty of time for fun and relaxation. For 1990, the Bedford High School representatives were Christine Hamel, Erin Fehlau, Mike Huffman, and Mark Gallant. They all had a terrific time and thought it was a wonderful experience.

Ughhhhhhhh!

Layouts, deadlines, computers, disks, pictures, MORE deadlines, problems, stories, MORE pictures, EVEN MORE deadlines, and an overabundance of stress - that is what yearbook was this year. The staff was almost entirely new, including Mr. Rinaldi the new advisor. The debt was almost higher than the national debt. The program was old and outdated. The number of problems was incredible. But on top of all of the fuss and fighting and problems and STRESS, the Yearbook "experience" not only paid off, but was kind of fun, too. Who else will the psychotic fools who volunteer for this deathly work get along with if not all of the other psychotic fools who did the same? It's kind of like one big, happy, insanely crazy family.

The staff, hardworking though very small, locked itself in room B13 everyday after school with only the sounds of the blaring radio and their blaring co-members surrounding them. With the 10 Yearbook commandments posted on the wall (each one broken countless amounts of time by each staff member), the staff members proceeded to produce this fine piece of work for the rest of the school, for better or for worse, for richer or for poorer, until death relieved them of their harsh responsibilities! Each staff member is still asking him or herself the question, "What ever could have possessed me to have wanted to do this?!" The rest of the time is spent having nervous breakdowns or anxiety attacks!

The year was not without conflict. The staff saw everything from erased disks, power failures, lost pictures, and missed deadlines to screaming matches, chair-hurling, hate-mail and several disastrous Yearbook faux-pas. The computer room, smelling faintly of Bedford Farms or Dunkin Donuts and filled with the sounds of WZLX - Classic Rock, was the battleground for many a fight, the scene of many a crisis, and the target for many a bombing by the staff members. If only dreams could come true! Anyway, the staff was not lucky enough for an explosion of any kind, so the Yearbook continued to live and grow.

And here it is! The staff tried its hardest and suffered some permanent emotional damage in the process, but it was worth it. It's done, and no severe harm was inflicted upon anyone...yet. We hope the product is worth the work and we want to thank everyone who made it possible: Mr. Rinaldi, John Neister, Karen, Burlington Studios, Jostens, Bedford Farms, and especially everyone at Bedford High. We couldn't have done it without you!

Mr. Rinaldi ponders the true meaning of Yearbook.

Wow! Could it finally be over? I can't believe it. It's been one helluva year, and I hope all of our hard work paid off. Considering we had no advisor, staff, or money when we started, I guess we didn't do soooo bad!!! To my beautiful staff: Jacqui, Kathy, Becky, Eileen, George, and especially Rachel Meyers without whom I would have died - THANK YOU guys for everything. Mr. Rinaldi - thanks for putting up with my outbursts and tantrums. Best of luck for next year, and may you win Megabucks to finance it!!! Thanks John and friends at Jostens, Gordon and co. from Burlington, Mr. S. for the key, Mrs. Byron for getting me involved in the wonderful world of Yearbook (mistake!), the entire staff and the staffs of years past, and especially Matthew. Rainman - you made it possible. Thanks for the extra spending cash when I needed it and for "making it with me" and all that. You're my babe and I love you. Thanks BHS for being so darn photogenic and please don't throw anything at me if you're unhappy! Good luck to the Class of '91 and anyone else who needs it. GOODBYE!!!!

Thanks to everyone and everything that made this year's yearbook possible! Mr. Rinaldi - you've been a great help in everything. Sorry for getting you into this mess and good luck next year! To the staff: Jacqui, Kathy, Becky, Eileen, George, and all of those others who did nothing yet managed to make it into the picture - THANK YOU! John Neister for everything, Karen Stariha, Burlington Studios, O'Connor Studios, any business or parent that took out an add, God, Mr. Duggan for our allowance, and especially to Judy for "making it with me". Hon, I couldn't have done it without you. Actually without you the yearbook would have been a total of 14 pages long! Also, to all of the students and faculty at BHS - thank you for all of your cooperation and consideration and for being so involved. It's been a tough job - but we did it, somehow. Many people worked many long hours to get this done and we tried our hardest. We hope you like it, but if you don't, none of us really want to hear about it! So thanks for your support and thanks for (please) not complaining. Good luck to the Class of '91 and anyone else who needs it!

Well, we know that Milli Vanilli's voices aren't real, but is their hair?

NOW!!!

The war in the Persian Gulf made Saddam Hussein become a household name this year after his invading Kuwait. The U.S. retaliated to his stubborn actions by launching Desert Storm January 15, 1991. The whole world now lives surrounded by war and with prayers of peace.

Bart Simpson became the radical dude in 1990 by telling all of his teachers to "Eat my shorts, man." The Simpsons were a new fad this year, with people turning in every week to watch them on TV.

Julia Roberts and Richard Gere of "Pretty Woman" stole America's heart in one of the year's highest grossing films. It was a new outlook for Cinderella in America's eyes.

Sammy Davis Jr. passed away on May 16, 1990. During his life, he entertained millions of people with his dancing, singing, acting, and comedy. He was also famous for his routines with Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin.

All throughout the U.S., feelings of hope and safety for our soldiers in the Persian Gulf are expressed. Their service has been greatly appreciated and respected and the country waves a yellow ribbon for them.

On July 25, 1990, Roseanne Barr sang her way through the National Anthem at an infamous baseball game. The picture shows how she felt about the crowd's reaction to her rendition.

Margaret Thatcher, the former iron lady of Britain, had her armor pierced in a major intraparty dispute over internal affairs.

In May 16, 1990 Jim Henson died. Over the years, he and his puppets created many inspiring memories.

In 1990, Delta Burke created a storm in the press as her weight rose and fell with the tides.

Malcolm Forbes passed away on Feb 24, 1990 - a very rich man, complete with Faberge eggs.

HAPPENINGS!

"There's no excuse for what happened in the locker room."

Victor Kiam

Victor Kiam discovered the power of the press with the help of friendly Lisa Olson.

John Kennedy Jr. passed the New York bar exam on Nov. 3, 1990 - finally, after many, many tries.

Johnny Depp brought Edward Scissorhands into the lives and hearts of millions of Americans in 1990.

The famous director, Leonard Bernstein, died on Oct. 14, 1990. Yet, his music will live forever.

"Ghost," the highest grossing movie in 1990, starring Patrick Swayze and Demi Moore, made us believe.

Following in the footsteps of Marlon Brando, Al Pacino made "Godfather III" one of the most popular movies in 1991.

Laura Palmer died, but does anyone know who killed her? Agent Cooper, aka Kyle MacLaughlin, certainly does. David Lynch's "Twin Peaks" was one of the most talked about TV shows while it was solving Laura's murder in 1990.

Mikey, aka Bruce Willis, chattered away to John Travolta and Kirstie Alley in "Look Who's Talking." Roseanne Barr joined in for the sequel at the end of 1990.

Ava Gardner died on Jan. 25, 1990, leaving America with many of her movies and songs.

Ex-foreign minister of the USSR, Eduard Shevardnadze, resigned in a policy dispute over the "dictatorship" of Gorbachev.

Activities: Drawing, Poetry, Writing, Listening to Music, Running, and Girl watching. Thanks To: Most of all I want to make a special dedication to my grandmother who passed away. Why did God have to take you away from me? I'll miss you always. Grandpa - you're always in my thoughts. Mom and Dad - I've learned so much from you both, I wouldn't be here if not for you guys. You both have always looked out for me, I love you both very much. Natalie (Chubs) - I love the way you are growing up, sis, and I love you. Julia - the first girl I have ever truly cared about, you taught me how to love, you're my heart - I love you. Kenny - my partner in crime - I miss you. Mrs. Parker - thank you. METCO has been a wonderful experience. Raymond and Gordon, Charlene, Nicole - how's college? Byron S. - what's up, B? Toni J., Bubba, Keith, Franklin, Debbie and Jennifer - what's up, homegirls (Julia's posse)! Aparna - 4ever, babe. Jo, Hope, Lauren, Lisa T., Sandra and Susan J. Angella - I won't forget you. Cameron (Cam), John J., Brian M., Jason, Marwin, Marcus, Nana-kyl, Nickii, Nicki, Cornelius, Amy A., David B., Mark G., Mike B., Lester, Michelle B., Zach K., Heather C., Arsenio H., Eddie M., Spike Lee, Martin L.K., Malcolm X, Prince - keep jammin' my brother, they'll get the message! Peace everyone. Thanks, I'll miss you all. And most of all, God. Future Goals: Hopefully, one day I will become a successful fashion designer or a writer. I also want to one day settle down and have a beautiful wife and kids, 1 boy and 1 girl. I do not want to be rich like Donald Trump, because money does not bring happiness! But it brings sexy wives.

Also thanks to the University of Nebraska for having the best football program in the history of the world, to the University of Nevada at Las Vegas for being smart enough to hire an Armenian for head coach, and for having the best hoops program in the country. To Dick Vitale for being a PTP'er in his own right. To Coach Dan Frost for leaving BHS so we could get a real Soccer coach. To Dave Wilson for being that real Soccer coach who cared about us not only as a team, but also as individuals. I appreciate all you've done for me. Thanks to Earth, Wind, and Fire for being the best pop group since time began, to all the guys on the Football team for the lead with the Soccer team and to Mark Gray for being on the Soccer team and being such the man. Also thanks to my favorite teachers Mr. Spinosa and Mr. Maxwell not only for being great teachers but caring individuals who respected me as an individual and treated me like an adult. Maybe we can go out and party together now that I've graduated. And last but certainly not least thanks to the family. Mom and Dad for helping me through the hard times, especially in High School and for encouraging me to do my best. Despite all our differences we made it together. To Sue, you are my best friend and I hope we can always relate to each other and understand each other. I'll miss you most when I go away. I love you guys. Future Goals: To become President of the United States and in my spare time to either become a pro Soccer player or agent for Earth, Wind, and Fire when they come back in 1999 for their reunion tour.

I seriously don't know what I would have done without two such perfect people to influence my life. Although times may break us apart always remember: you came first, I LOVE YOU! Mithis: we've grown up together from popsicles to cologne. Boy, I never expected you to be so perfect, you're everything I ever wanted in a brother. I love you baby. Thanks to Marty for doing whatever you do best. Karry (Rite) so many times I have wondered what I would've done without you!

You were always there when I needed you, with an open mind and heart. We've been through the good (North Conway, Cape Cod, late night escapes to BK, unassigned, Maxi Priest, 2 Live Crew) and the bad times (cars, trees, telephone poles, groundaion, the IROC, detention, and Jordan Marsh) and we musn't forget the men (first name BURGER second name KING last name MAN, Jerk Man, Dogman, fatman, etc.) You are beautiful, never change. Brendan, for finally making my Rita happy, and for always being in a mellow mood. Judy, for the long talks analyzing my life, for the nights we'd rather forget, flight lines, giving birth to pizza, the laughs, the smiles, forever I will love you! Tricia, Babbie, Babbie why can't you make up your mind? Hard Rock Cafe, Cape Elizabeth, Newport, call the Navy men. Do me a favor, don't fight happiness, just let it happen! Thank you for always being unique, you are very special to me. I will always hold you close to my heart. Rachel (the sticky monster pasta, and whip cream, hey it would have been a good night if they were different guys) Nat (Slush puppies, Great Meadows). Jen C. for your smile and neverending enthusiasm. Niki, I will love you always thanks for making me laugh. Heath, for always partying, and stealing my navy man. Michelle - B period study, and for hairspray. Scrodum (for going on a diet with me, for the buffet - some day you'll have to teach me). Loree (my precious flower, although miles separate us, you will forever be in my heart). And most of all my underclassman Katie for the unforgettable lipsild and the Mountains, you're the best!! Special thanks to: Steve, Matt, Ami, Kelly, Keith, Jen H. (blond), Diane (convos about men in homeroom), Rachel M., Mrs. Alcaez, Michelle C., Steph (Art), Mr. Pilla, Walter (for making my Ja Ja happy), Marni (you owe me five dollars), Burger King Man, Diet Pepsi, Jordan Marsh, and to all of my relatives unmentioned. And most of all to Jimmy, I don't know what the future holds for us, but I want you to know you have changed my life immensely. So many things I never expected to feel you made me feel, you taught me to love, I don't know what I'd do without you, I honestly love you, and I feel I always will, don't ever forget me! Thank you to everyone who I have overlooked. Good luck, I love you all!!! Future Goals: To eventually find complete happiness, never grow old, live in Vermont with the man of my dreams, and to never lose contact with all of you.

Thanks To: Three sweet guys at Bedford High - you Sophomores and Juniors know who you are who always complimented me and told me what a sweet person I am or was just there when I had to complain about other guys. Thanks you two Mikes and Chris. Chris I hope you will never forget me. We've become real close friend and you got the raw end as the deal, as far as the one who had to listen to me the deal, as far as the one who had to listen to me the most. I hope our friendship lasts and you will look for me to listen, as I looked for you to listen. Shane - you're really sweet. Thanks for taking me to McDonalds during unassigned and good luck to you and Shannon. Thanks to my friends, Kim Mello for letting me be one of the first four people to drive in her car, for sharing her secrets and really being there as a close friend Nana-kyi Johnson, someday I'll know how to spell your name for being the coolest Junior who loves everyone and will listen, even though she's probably heard the story from your twin, also for her laugh, smile, and seriousness. I'd also like to thank Erin Sparks for giving me good advice on how to get rid of guys without hurting their feelings and for trusting me and opening up to me as a friend when she first moved here. To Prina we've become close friends these past two years. You better keep in touch with me when you move to Tennessee and you better not have your license before me!! I can't forget my family - Donna and Julie for being little sisters I can tease, hug and fight with, Diane - you're a great sister. Thanks for not yelling at me about all the things I yell at you for. Bill for taking me driving, helping me with some of my homework and sticking up for me at times. To Mom and Dad - for making me try my best and trying to lead me in the right direction. Thanks to all the teachers, especially Mrs. Miele who didn't push me to do better, but let me know (sometimes indirectly) when I should stop by for help & never lost confidence in me. Future Goals: To grow taller than some of my friends, some of the freshman or just people my age! To go to college, and get a nice blue car, maybe an RX7 or and Acura Integra that's not too old, marry a blonde and have two kids before I reach the age of 27.

Mark,

Always keep your dreams out in front. You can do anything you dream. You can do it. Go for it.

Love, Mom and Dad

Mark,

Press along big chief. We're proud of you. Just let prayer be your key of the morning and bolt of the evening.

Grandmother and Granddad Prior

Mark,

You are our youngest grandson, but always very special. We are very proud of you. Congratulations. May your dreams all come true.

Brian,

Thank you for so many things.

For arguing with us when you were right and we were wrong.

For wanting to change the world.
For making us laugh, and not letting us take things too seriously.

For being an example to all of us.
For stealing my Eric Clapton records.

For teaching us a great deal about some things that really matter.

For letting us choose the radio station once in a while.

For reminding us about commitment.
For teaching us that Crayolas aren't just for kids.

For letting Dad use the car now and then.
For convincing us that keeping your room clean isn't very important, after all.

For introducing us to some wonderful people.
For helping us heal.

For giving us faith in the future.

We love you,

Mom, Dad, David, and Rachel

Shari,

We are proud of you, and we know that you are a very special person. You will

Stacey,
You're such a lovely daughter that it is hard to wish enough nice things for you. Please know what pride and joy are in each thought of you, and just what happiness it brings when you are happy, too.

James and Hazel Hanson

Dear Stacey,

Isn't it great that there's no one like you? No other person can do what you do. Doesn't that make you happy? Then, say it real loud. "I'm one of a kind! I'm me and I'm proud!"

"Out of the Blue"

...And so we all move on - out of BHS, out of our childhoods, out of the blue and into THE REST OF OUR LIVES! It's sad to think about leaving, but always the memories will stay with us. These four years here, all the people we've said hello and goodbye to, everything that's become familiar and beloved - it's going to be hard to turn our backs on the past, but hopes of the future fill us with happiness and in time we may forget the cherished moments we once experienced here at BHS. But most probably we won't and we'll continue to remember with a smile our days in those crowded and boisterous hallways, those days when we had lockers and were treated like inmates on leashes...those days of our youths when we had nothing to worry about except our futures which seemed as bright and promising as a summer's day. So with our five-year reunion coming up in only...well, five years, it will be no time at all until we all meet again and can look back at our adolescent years with most probably a laugh. Warm wishes to the Class of '91 and everyone else privileged enough to stomp through these fine halls at Bedford High School. And as we go out into the blue remember...

"Take your time, think a lot,
Think of everything you've got,
For you may still be here
tomorrow
But your dreams may not..."

Theresa Concannon, Daymion Smith, and Lisette Alba are just too happy about being friends.

Julia Farmer, Kelly O'Malley, Michelle Boisvert, and Alicia DeLuca look snazzy at Junior Prom '90.

COLOPHON

Bedford High School's 1990 SIGNUM was printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing Division, 401 Science Park Road, State College, Pennsylvania 16801. The Jostens area representative was John Neister and the in-house consultant was Karen Stariha.

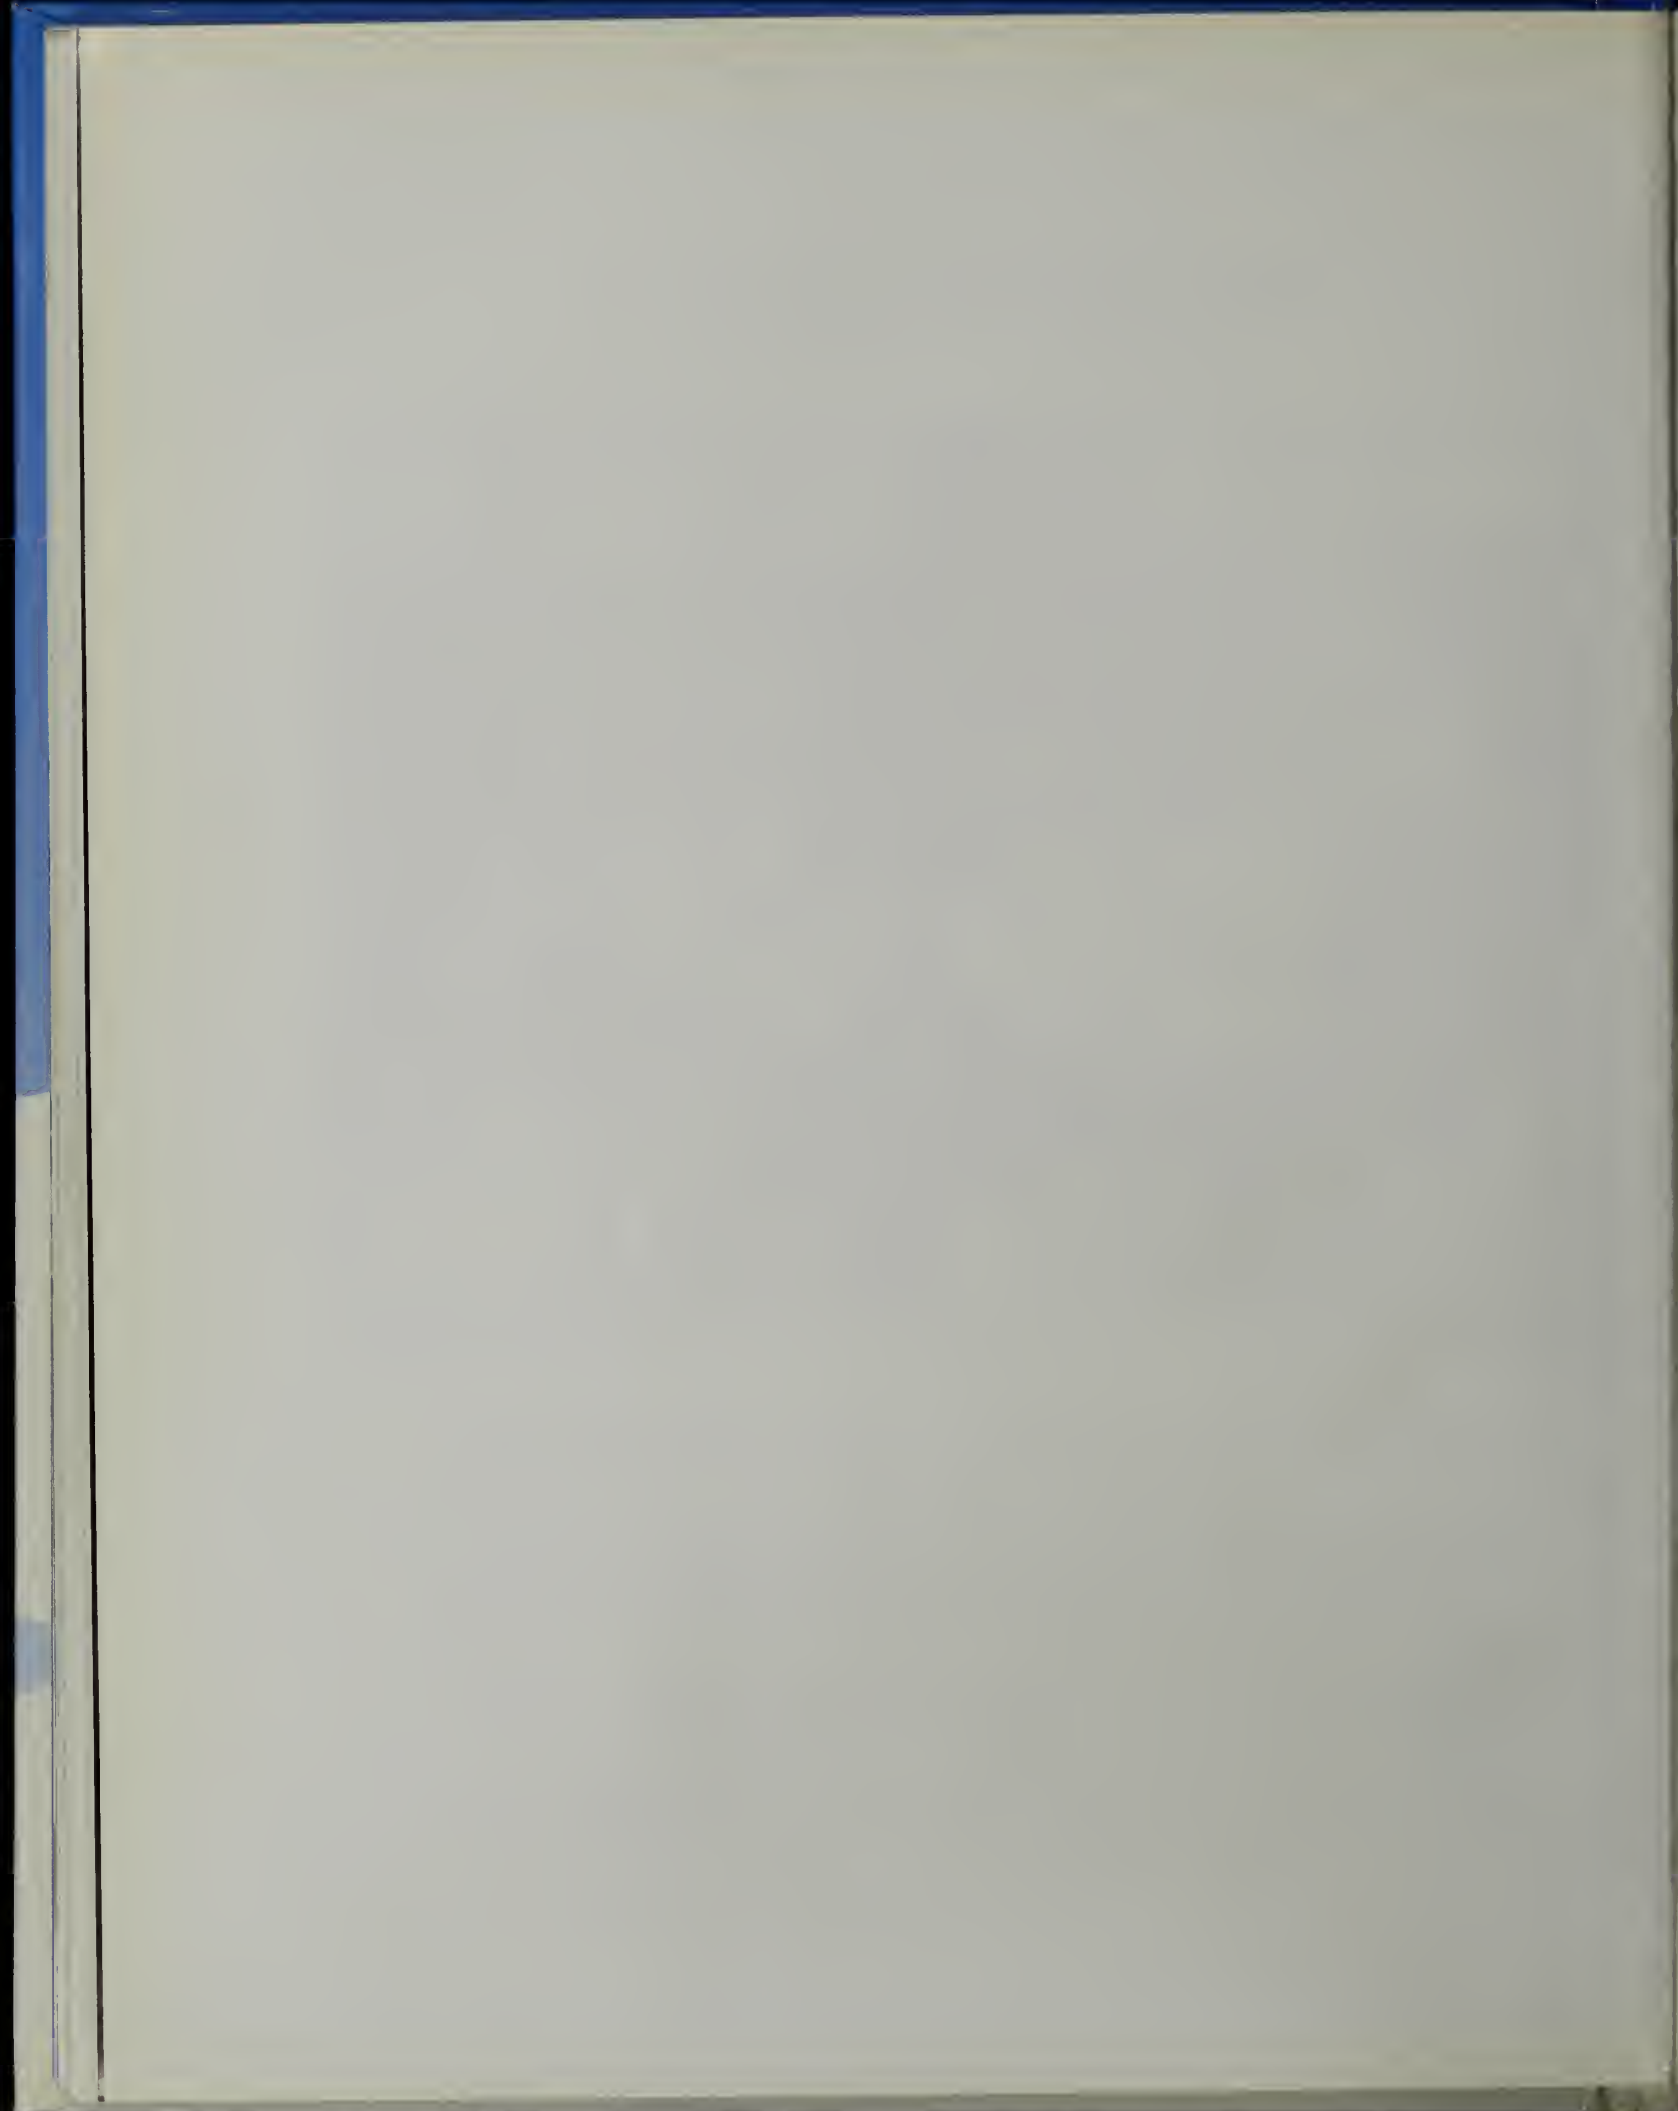

Senior portraits, group photos, and candids were taken by Burlington Studios, 99R Cambridge Street, Burlington, Massachusetts 01803 and by Yearbook Staff Photographers. Underclassmen portraits were taken by O'Connor School Pictures, 1348 Main Street, Tewkesbury, Massachusetts 01876.

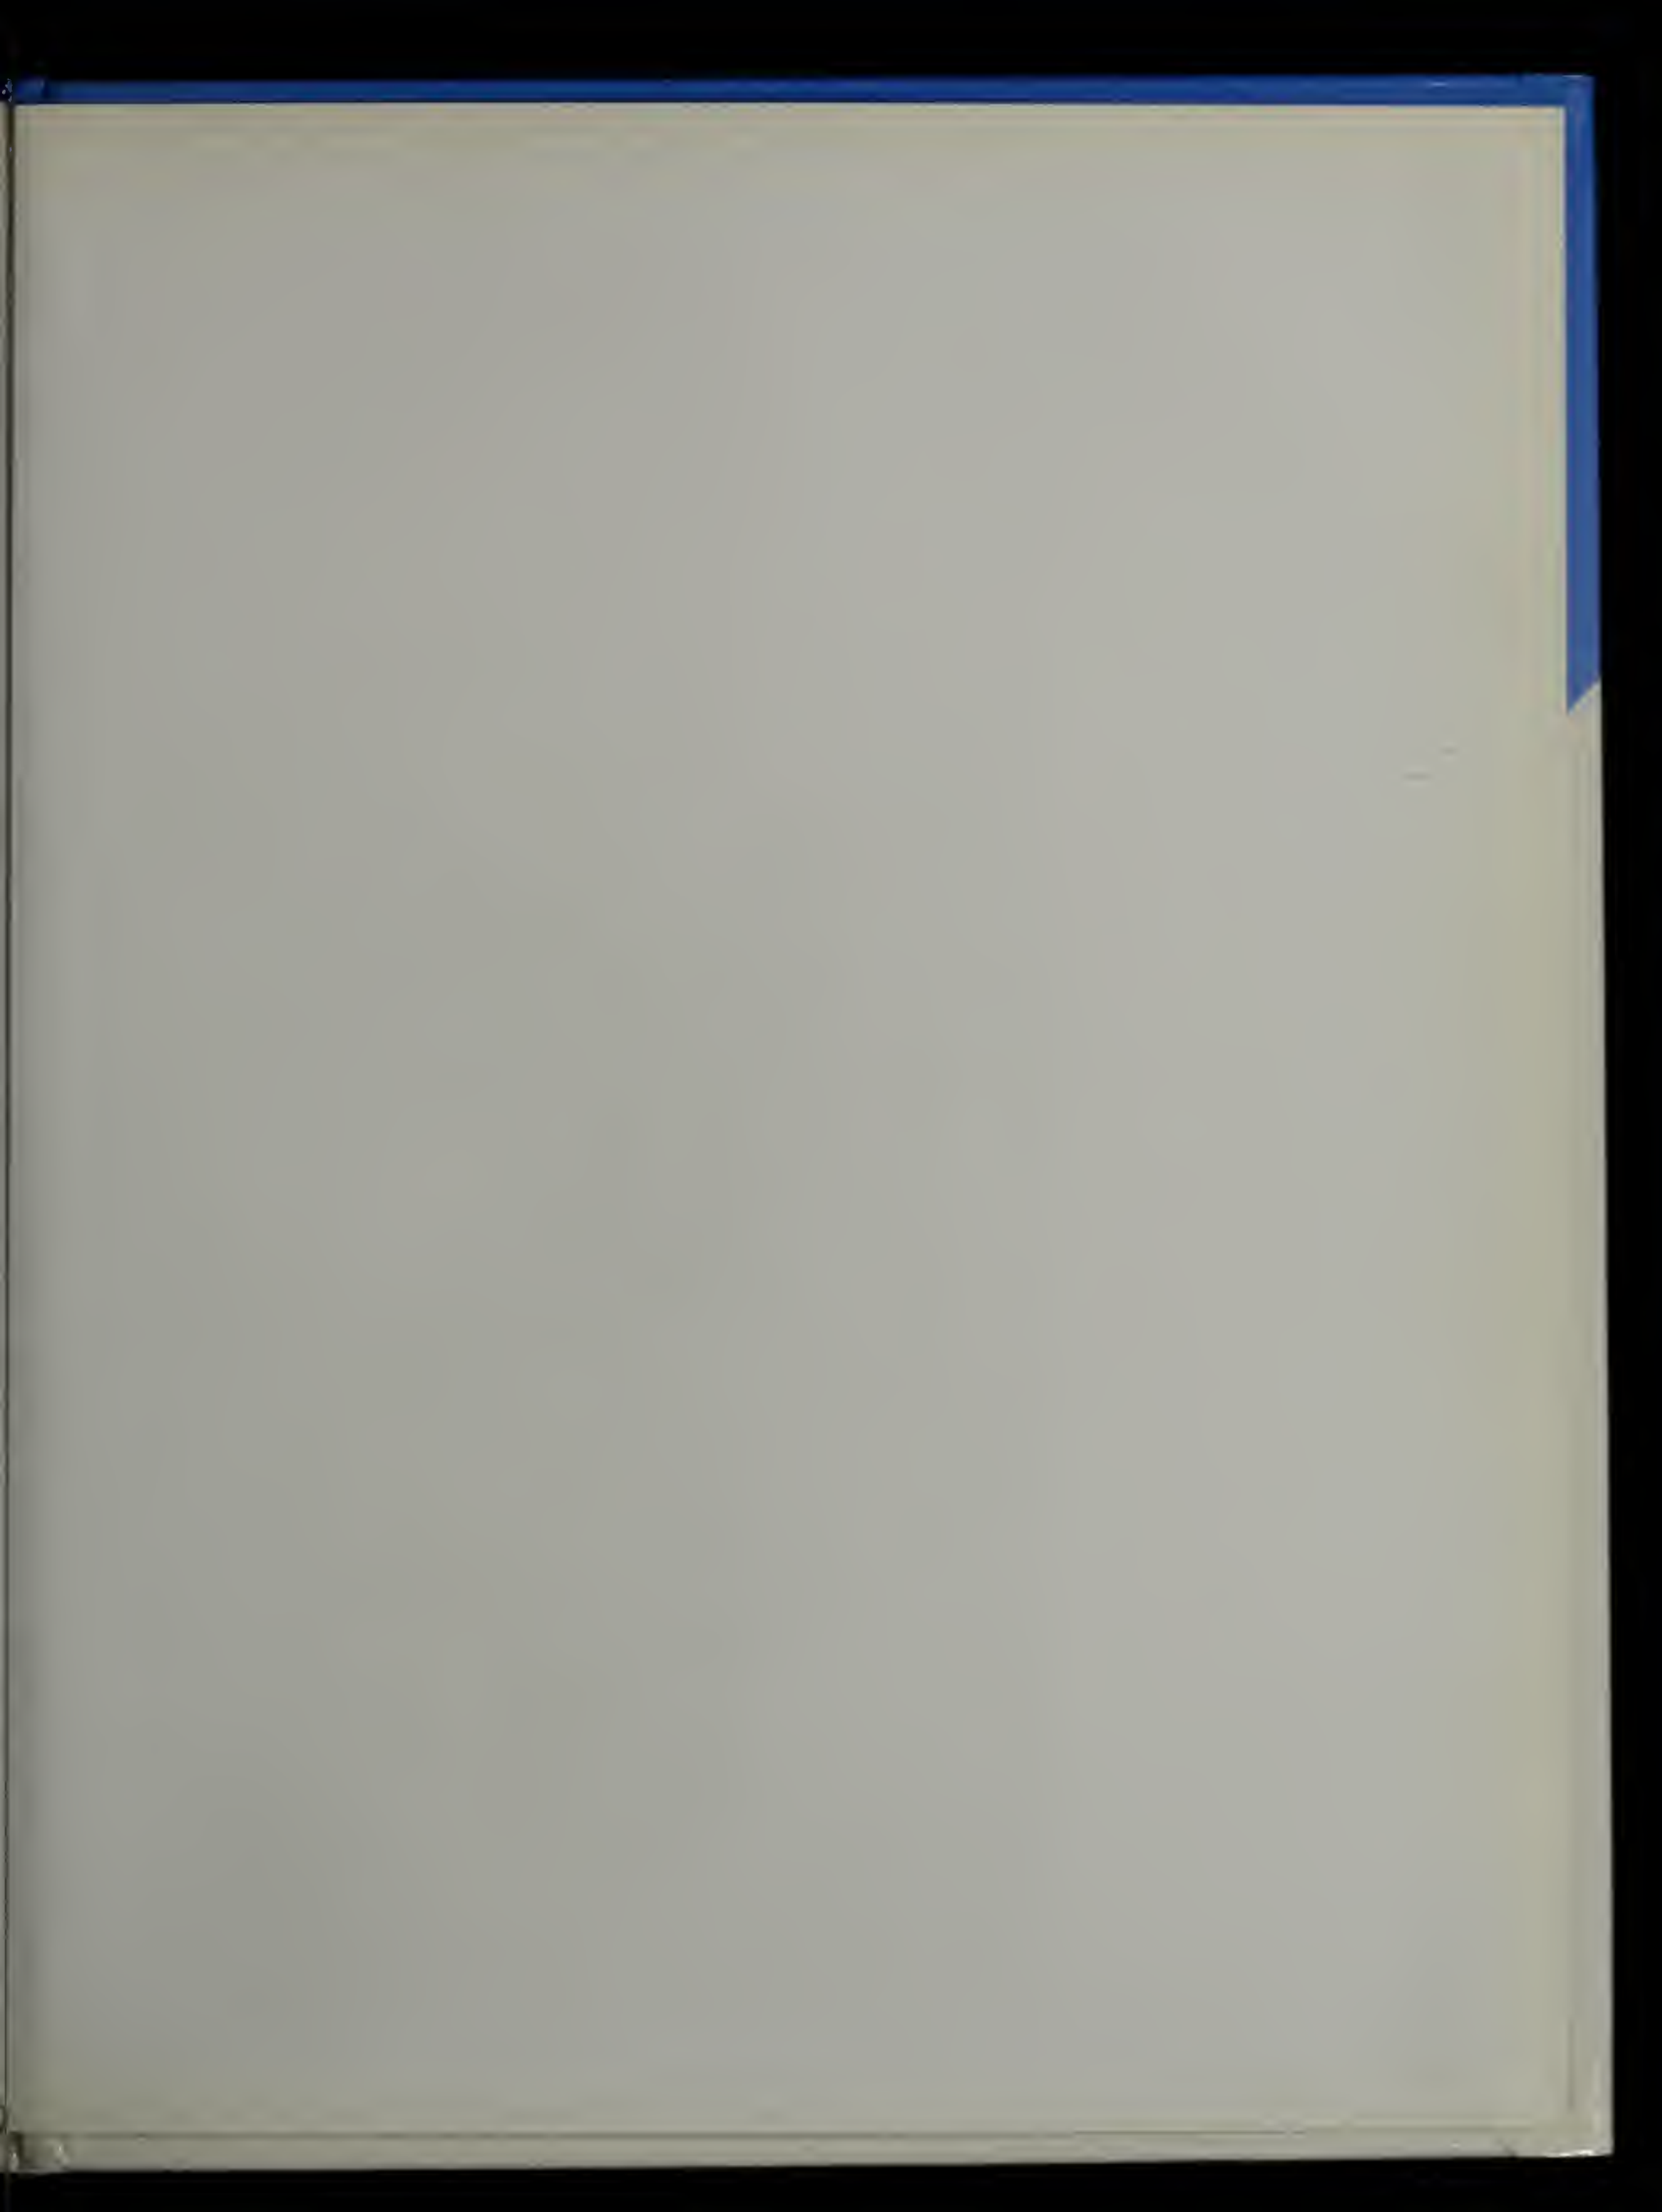

The cover was litho material in white with black and #285 medium blue ink applied; the endsheets were material parchmatte #303; the front name-date was printed in T-#285.

Headlines were set in 36 point Helvetica. Secondary headlines were set in 14 and 18 point Avant Garde. Body Copy was set in 10 point Times Roman, and picture captions were set in 8 point Times Roman.

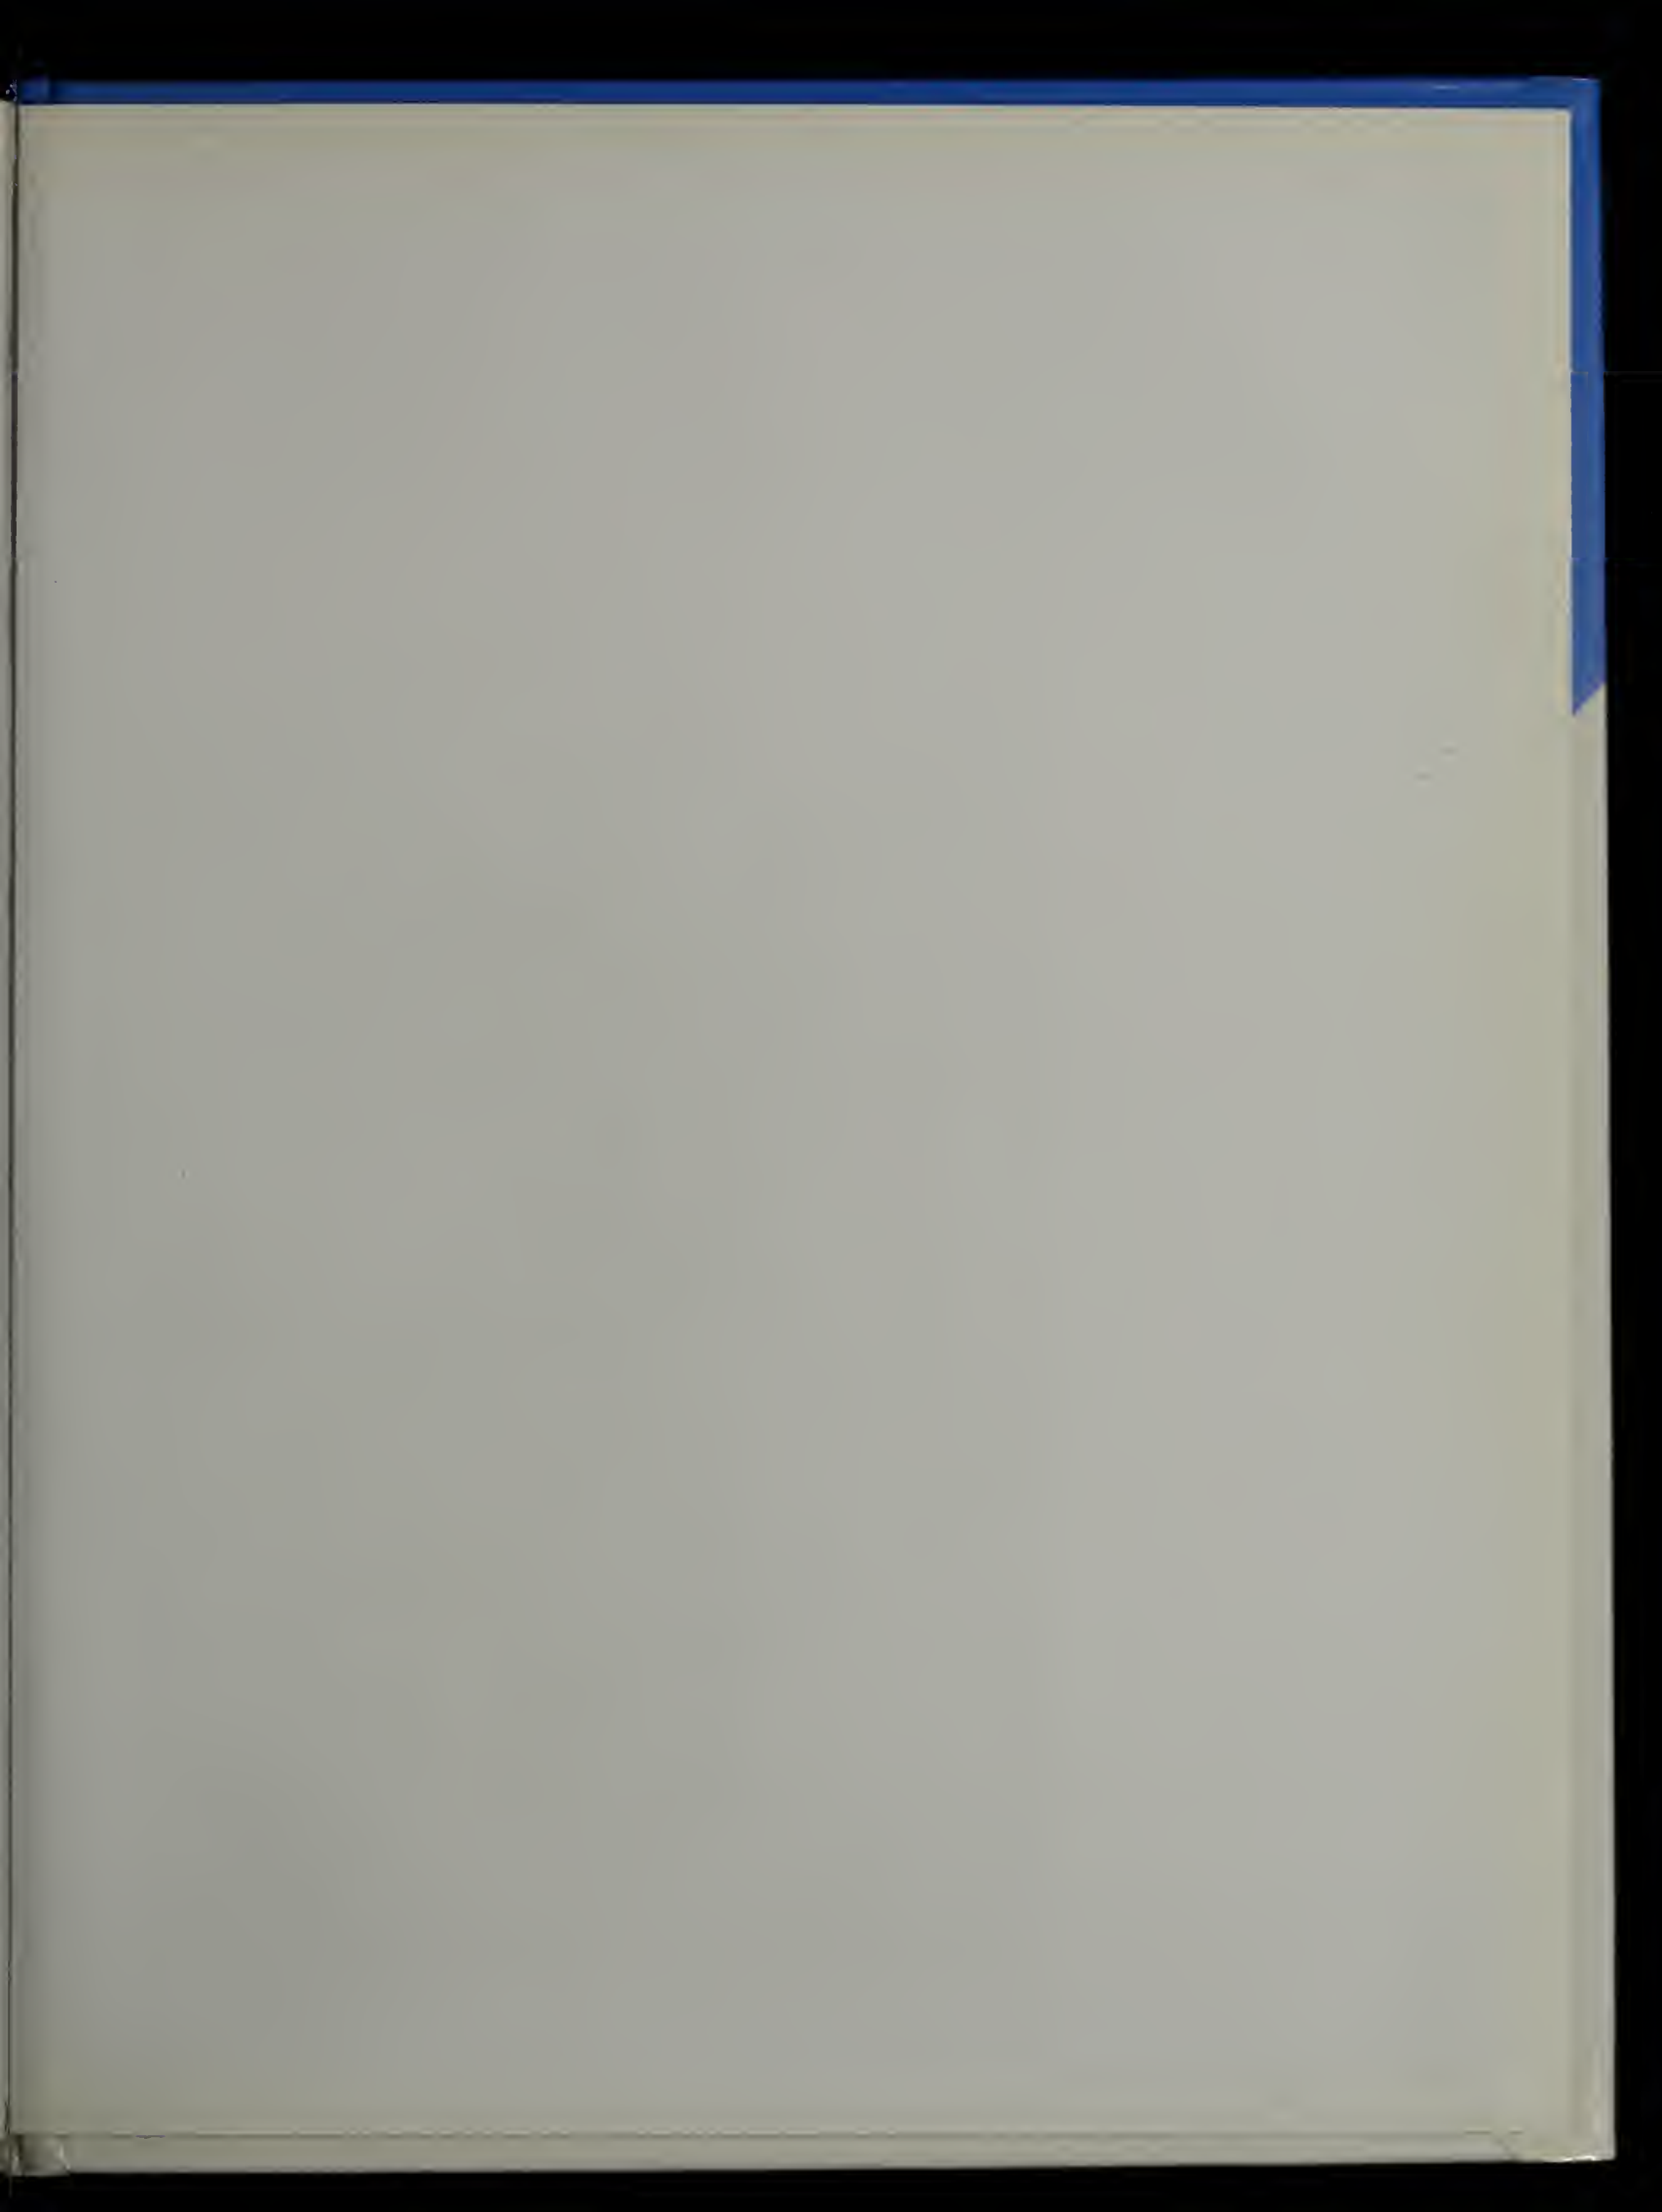

The publication date for the yearbooks was May 1991.
